

Report Heavy Viet Fights; 6 Men Eyed As Possible HHH Choice

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported sharp new fighting in Vietnam and said the resumption of heavy enemy attacks last week brought death to more American, South Vietnamese and enemy troops than in any other week this summer.

U.S. headquarters reported 368 Americans killed in action last week, the highest toll since June 15, and said another 1,144 were wounded. The headquarters said 4,755 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were slain, the biggest weekly total since May 18.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 495 government troops killed, their heaviest loss since May 11.

Battle reports from American and South Vietnamese headquarters told of a dozen heavy enemy barrages on military posts and towns, new fighting below the demilitarized zone and northwest of Saigon, and three helicopters shot down in combat.

The biggest battle was 32 miles northwest of Saigon, where U.S. jets and artillery rained fire on a North Vietnamese battalion brought to bay by troops of the 101st Air Cavalry Division.

In a running battle through marshes, jungles and flooded rice paddies, the enemy battalion of perhaps 300 men lost 103 killed, 22 captured and one defected. Sixteen Americans were reported killed and 25 wounded. By noon, the remnants of the enemy force had given up the uneven fight although jets and helicopter gunships were still drawing some sporadic fire.

Several miles to the north, U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division reported killing 19 of an estimated 200 enemy soldiers before the latter broke off a three-hour skirmish seven miles southeast of Tay Ninh. Two Americans were reported wounded.

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 32 enemy soldiers Wednesday in two widely separated clashes, one near the recently besieged Duc Lap Special Forces camp, 125 miles northeast of Saigon, and the other four miles southwest of Vinh Long, in the Mekong Delta. A spokesman said 13 government soldiers were killed and 22 wounded.

Man Is Crucified as Part Of Money-Making Scheme

LONDON (AP) — The crucifixion of an interior decorator, nailed half-naked to a cross on a lonely London heath, was no religious ritual—it was a plot to make money, a court was told today.

And the interior decorator, Joseph de Havilland, 30, helped and encouraged the three men who spiked him to his cross and tied it to a tree, prosecutor Peter Spencer claimed.

The crucifixers and the victim wanted to sell photographs of the ceremony and "divide the spoils" said the prosecution.

De Havilland was found hanging from the cross on Hampstead Heath July 25 by police, who lowered him from the tree, buried the six-inch nails from the cross and took him to a hospital. Police said the decorator, dressed only in a pair of pants, was in a semitrance and his hands, despite the iron spikes driven through them, were not bleeding.

Accused of causing "grievous bodily harm" to the man on the cross were Desmond Polidore and David Conklin, both jobless, and another interior decorator, Erich Leach. The prosecutor said Leach drove the nails in, Polidore helped out and Conklin took the photographs.

A police constable said he found De Havilland standing on a plank five feet from the ground, tied to a tree with string and nailed to his cross.

"There was no blood anywhere," the policeman said. De Havilland told him his arms were numb but that he didn't hurt because he had "used willpower."

The case was adjourned until Sept. 9. The three were held in prison without bail.

Judge Gives Son Back To Father

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — "The foundation of our society is the family," said a California judge in restoring 10-year-old Mark Painter to his father, writer-photographer Harold Painter.

The Iowa Supreme Court in 1966 awarded Mark to his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bannister of Ames, after his mother and sister were killed in a 1962 auto accident.

But Judge Gilbert G. Perry of Santa Cruz County Superior Court gave Painter permanent custody of his son Wednesday. The boy said later he was happy.

The Bannisters did not appear in court, or contest the ruling. They presumably accepted a minister's recent report that Mark liked living with his father, with whom he was having a month's reunion.

Painter, who remarried and lives at nearby Brookdale, sought custody of the boy after the Bannisters declined to give him up.

The Iowa Supreme Court originally ruled against Painter because it said the atmosphere of his home was "arty, bohemian and probably too intellectually stimulating."

Expect Autopsy Report in Slaying

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Results of an autopsy performed on the body of a woman from nearby Franklin who was mysteriously slain were expected to be released this afternoon.

Police are baffled by the slaying of Emily Coleman, 70, whose body was found nude on a blood-soaked lounge chair on the porch of her home Tuesday.

Debbie Hubbard, her 16-year-old granddaughter, had gone to the house for supper and discovered the body covered with a sheet. Her clothes were stacked neatly inside the house, police said.

Man Is Crucified as Part Of Money-Making Scheme

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is the front runner to be Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey's runningmate, but Ambassador R. Sargent Shriver is also getting strong consideration, according to close associates of the vice president.

Humphrey, who held some discussions with party leaders even before his first ballot presidential triumph Wednesday night, continued consultations through the early morning hours in a 25th floor suite of the Conrad Hilton hotel.

Humphrey will put his selection before the Democratic convention tonight.

"The decision has not been made," press secretary Norman Sherman said early today, but close associates said that Muskie, the 6-foot-5, 54-year-old architect of his state's Democratic revival, was the frontrunner.

At the same time there was speculation that the more glamorous Shriver was benefiting from events of the past 48 hours.

The other four men mentioned Wednesday by Sherman as vice presidential contenders included Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco and former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina.

Besides Harris, who is 37, all of the contenders are in their 50s. But only Hughes, 59, is older than the 57-year-old vice president.

Hog Calling Is Highlight Of State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It was a big day for the hog callers, old time fiddlers and attendance takers at the Ohio State Fair.

Fair officials say 146,967 persons visited the exposition Wednesday to boost the total over a seven-day period to 901,243. The seven-day attendance lags behind last year's figure by about 29,000.

In Wednesday's activity, a little pig named "Petunia" brought victory to Jim McCracken of Piqua in the hog calling contest. McCracken was judged the best hog caller among 20 entrants.

And Kenneth Sidle of rural Newark took top honors on the old time fiddlers contest. He won the same contest when it was held the last time at the fair—in 1956.

Today at the fair is Akron Day, Legislator's Day, Sandusky Day and Japan Day.

The Smothers Brothers again will be the feature entertainment at the grandstand program Thursday and Friday.

State Applies For Riot Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Urban Affairs has filed with the U.S. Department of Justice an application for a $226,634 federal riot control grant.

The funds, allocated under the recently enacted Safe Streets Acts, would be distributed to the Ohio Highway Patrol and the state's eight largest cities.

The patrol would receive 25 per cent of the money, or $56,658. Cleveland would get $45,078. Columbus, $29,729; Cincinnati $27,315; Toledo $21,417; Akron $16,386; Dayton $14,634; Youngstown $9,009 and Canton $6,408.

The state and cities must match 25 per cent of their grants.

Turkish Police Protect Sailors

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — Riot police patrolled the streets in this Aegean port city today as six units of the U.S. 6th fleet arrived for a friendly visit. No violence was reported, but the atmosphere was tense.

Turkey's Marxist Labor party, leftist students and youth organizations have called for "passive resistance" to the visit.

Anti-American demonstrations and violence flared in Istanbul during a similar visit of the 6th fleet last month. More than 20 U.S. sailors were injured.

Humphrey Gets Nod; Seeks Running Mate Chicago Cops Again Bludgeoned Protesters

CHICAGO (AP) — Some 3,000 antiwar demonstrators and Chicago police battled beneath the windows of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, the Democratic National Convention headquarters, Wednesday night as Hubert H. Humphrey was receiving the party's presidential nomination across town.

Early today, as Illinois National Guardsmen formed a protective circle around the Hilton, some 600 dissident convention delegates and youths marched down Michigan Avenue. They carried candles and sang softly while the antiwar protesters slept in a park across the street from the hotel.

The International Amphitheatre, site of the convention and five miles distant, remained secure behind police guards and a barbed wire fence.

Tear gas filtered throughout the nation's largest hotel Wednesday night, even reaching the 25th-floor suite of Humphrey and the room of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Police used clubs in subduing the demonstrators, most of them white youths, some of them bearded and sandaled, some clean-cut.

Police arrested 267 youths. At least 300 demonstrators were injured, most of them from the policemen's clubs as the youths surged into police lines and attempted to storm the hotel.

For a short time, Hilton guests—including Mrs. McCarthy—were virtual prisoners in the hotel. They were refused permission to leave by police as trash fires were set in Michigan Avenue just outside, police cars were stoned, and some hotel windows were broken by crowd pressure.

The estimated 3,000 protesters filled Michigan Avenue from sidewalk to sidewalk during the melee, blocking all traffic, taunting police with names, throwing an occasional rock or bottle, and refusing orders to disperse.

Police, after the original confrontation, beat and dragged the protesting youths into police vans.

Violence even invaded the hotel's red-carpeted lobby as police pursuing fleeing demonstrators fell upon an unidentified, long-haired newsman. He was beaten and dragged through the lobby door.

LBJ To Anoint Ticket Tonight?

President May Fly to Chicago

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, applauding the convention that endorsed his Vietnam war policy and nomination as vice president, is thought likely to appear at the convention tonight to anoint the Democratic ticket.

In keeping with Johnson's preference for secrecy, there was no official advance word on any plans to attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

But the President discarded the cloak of impartiality he's worn, sometimes restively, the past few weeks and commended the nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey as the party's standard-bearer.

"Now that the party has nominated an excellent and an especially well-qualified candidate for president, President Johnson said that all Democrats will unite behind him and move forward to victory in the election," said press secretary George Christian at the Texas White House.

Christian said Johnson called Humphrey to offer congratulations as soon as the President watched the vice president get the nomination on television.

Blast and Fire Fatal to Baby In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — An explosion and fire ripped through an apartment here Wednesday, killing a baby girl and injuring seven persons, two seriously.

Pamela Jarvis, 5-week-old daughter of Carol Jarvis, 17, died in the fire.

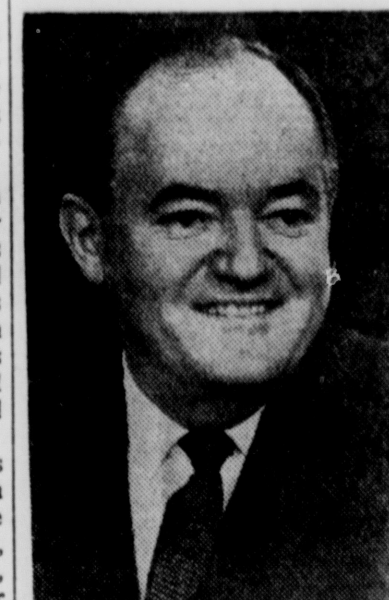

Carol's brother, Moses Jarvis, 16, was burned over 80 per cent of his body when he accidentally dropped a cigarette into a pail of gasoline he was carrying into the apartment.

Jarvis was in guarded condition at Metropolitan General Hospital.

His brother, Harold Jarvis, 17, was reported in fair condition with burns over 30 per cent of his body. The others were less seriously burned.

Vice President Leads Deeply Divided Party

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey won the Democratic presidential nomination Wednesday night in a violence-threatened party convention deeply divided on Vietnam war policy and uncertain of its ticket's fate in November.

HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

In command all the way, Humphrey trampled the challenges of peace candidates Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and George S. McGovern to become the election opponent of Republican Richard M. Nixon.

The vice president's methodically obtained victory was greeted with mixed enthusiasm and apprehension by security-harassed delegates to this most guarded and restricted of all national conventions.

The selection of Humphrey promised to lay before the nation's voters a choice between President Johnson's domestic and foreign policies—which the vice president has backed solidly as a member of the administration team—and a proposed Nixon program that varies more in details than essentials.

The final countdown, with 1,312 votes needed for the nomination, was:

Humphrey 1,761
McCarthy 601
McGovern 146 1/2

The Rev. Channing Phillips of the District of Columbia, Negro who ran as a favorite son of black delegates, 97 1/2

Ohio Power Co. Union Eyes Pact

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Power Co. spokesmen said today that negotiators had agreed on a contract proposal for some 700 employees who went on strike in late June and early July.

Utility Workers of America Union members were expected to vote Friday on the three-year proposal, which involves 443 workers at four power plants in Ohio and West Virginia and 257 employees of Ohio Power's Canton and Coshocton divisions.

The proposal was agreed upon early today, but terms were not disclosed. It was reached in meetings at Zanesville, where more negotiations were scheduled today with the striking Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The Electrical Workers Union represents 420 employees in Ohio Power's Steubenville, Zanesville and Newark divisions. The Steubenville division went on strike July 1 and the other two divisions walked out one week later.

Mexico Faces More Violence

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz faced the threat of mounting violence today after thousands of slum dwellers joined students striking against the government.

During the night 48 armored cars rolled up the Paseo de la Reforma Boulevard as troops tried to control the rioting that has gripped this city of seven million since July 26.

Czechs Start Modification Of Freedoms

PRAGUE (AP) — Leaders of Czechoslovakia's Communist party went ahead today with a slow modification of their liberal reforms. Opposition still was voiced to the capitulation to Moscow, but increasing numbers of people appeared to accept it as inevitable.

Premier Oldric Cernik announced that the government had decided on temporary measures to restrict press freedom.

Czechoslovak Communist party leaders considered whether to cancel the defiant election last week of an all-liberal party central committee, an election Moscow called illegal.

Cernik said the government would continue its liberal course as much as possible under the Soviet occupation. He appealed to workers and officials to get on with their jobs.

The National Assembly refused Tuesday to ratify the agreement reached by Czechoslovak and Soviet leaders in four days of negotiations in Moscow. It demanded that the government insist on a firm date for withdrawal of the 350,000 Soviet-block occupation troops. It also demanded release of all persons arrested under the occupation, freedom for all government organs and mass media and continuation of the democratization process begun in January.

Man Is Freed Of Murder Charge

ZEPHYRICOVE, Nev. (AP) — Murder charges were dropped against Donn Lee Cavnar, 25, a few hours after he was jailed in the bomb death of a Lake Tahoe casino owner, police said.

Richard Chartrand, 42, was killed Tuesday when a bomb exploded in his car in front of his home.

Chartrand, general manager of Barney's Casino, had fired Cavnar a month ago as a poker dealer, according to the Nevada Gaming Control Board.

Beverly Hills Banker's Son Kidnaped; $250,000 Asked

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A man posing as an electrician kidnaped the 4-year-old son of a Beverly Hills banker, and police searching for the boy said today there are similarities to an unsolved abduction one year ago.

"I'll contact your husband later. I want $250,000 in $20 bills," the mother of Stanley Stalford Jr. quoted his abductor as saying.

The man, wearing a hard hat and blue work clothes, fled in the family's new auto. Police said they found the abandoned auto seven hours later but would give no details.

Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson said "there are similarities" ties" between the Stalford abduction and the kidnapping of Kenneth Young, 11, in April 1967.

Kenneth, son of Herbert Young, president of a savings and loan association, was released unharmed after three days when his father paid $250,000 ransom. He lives 4 1/2 blocks from the Stalfords.

Both boys were kidnaped during the day. Both fathers are civic leaders.

Stanley Stalford Sr., 49, chairman of the Board of Fidelity Bank of Beverly Hills, was "anxious to pay off the ransom," Anderson said. But police said they knew of no ransom call.

"I'll contact your husband later. I want $250,000 in $20 bills," the mother of Stanley Stalford Jr. quoted his abductor as saying.

The man, wearing a hard hat and blue work clothes, fled in the family's new auto. Police said they found the abandoned auto seven hours later but would give no details.

Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson said "there are similarities" between the Stalford abduction and the kidnaping of Kenneth Young, 11, in April 1967.

Kenneth, son of Herbert Young, president of a savings and loan association, was released unharmed after three days when his father paid $250,000 ransom. He lives 4 1/2 blocks from the Stalfords.

Both boys were kidnaped during the day. Both fathers are civic leaders.

Stanley Stalford Sr., 49, chairman of the board of Fidelity Bank of Beverly Hills, was "anxious to pay off the ransom," Anderson said. But police said they knew of no ransom call.

Two Estates Give Berger $75,000

Berger Hospital's Board of Governors was informed last night during their regular monthly meeting that the hospital will receive about $75,000 from bequests under two wills.

Emmitt Crist, board member and local attorney, told the board $40,000 could be reasonably anticipated from the estate of the late Marvin Howard. Another $34,800 is due the hospital under the will of Minnie Newton.

Crist said the Howard bequest could be used as the board sees fit, while the Newton money is earmarked "limited usage" for permanent improvements only.

The board authorized a Columbus obstetrician, Dr. William E. Copland, to use Berger facilities as a courtesy member of the staff. Dr. Copland's authorization was recommended by Dr. H. H. Swope, chief of staff.

IN OTHER action the board approved a one-year contract for Robert M. Craig, anesthetist. Craig will now work at the hospital on a contract basis instead of salary.

James Stambaugh, Berger administrator, reported on interior improvements made recently at the hospital. He noted that all patient rooms had been painted using decorative schemes that would add "color" to the institutional atmosphere.

Stambaugh also reported that the new air conditioning system was functioning well and that it had a "good test run" during the recent heat wave.

Dr. Swope also discussed with the board the staff's eagerness to become accredited. He said there existed a problem of incomplete medical records and unsatisfactory patient charts that could hinder the hospital's accreditation. He said that a couple members of the staff were responsible for the situation.

Board members gave the chief of staff their full support in remedying the situation. Dr. Swope said that bylaws of the medical staff would be amended to provide for disciplinary action in cases of improper record keeping.

Crist, acting president in the absence of Mayor Gerhardt, read a letter from the mayor asking that some of the old air conditioning units be given to the city and county offices.

The proposal for disposition of the old units was tabled until the September meeting.

"I think I lost because political procedures don't respond to the judgment of the people," McCarthy said. "But I look upon it as a temporary setback at most."

Deploping the violence when 3,000 antiwar demonstrators fought a bloody street battle in downtown Chicago with an equal number of police and guardsmen, he said the convention never should have been held in Chicago. "There were too many warnings against coming here," he said.

Characteristically Humphrey leaped to his feet and clapped his hands joyfully when the votes of the Pennsylvania delegation put him over the top of the majority necessary for nomination. When a picture of his wife, Muriel, in convention hall, was flashed on the television set, he rushed up and kissed the screen.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, backing McGovern, led a convention assault on what he called the "Ge-stapo tactics" he charged Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago with employing in filling the streets and surrounding the convention hall with police and guardsmen.

Daley booed Ribicoff. Convention delegates booed Daley.

But long after the police clubs have been sheathed and tear gas canisters have been returned to storage, the division in the party over how to end the Vietnam war promised to plague the Democrats throughout the campaign.

While there was the usual applause for Humphrey as "the next president," a considerable number of Democrats seemed not at all sure that he would be.

The prize was voted in an air of pessimism that has not prevailed since the 1956 nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson to oppose President Eisenhower.

Humphrey stands to lose some support to former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in the industrial states among blue collar workers and union members—who fear their jobs and home values are threatened by Negroes—on whom the party has been able to count since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department indicates a new meeting has been arranged with North Korean representatives to discuss release of the USS Pueblo and her 82 surviving crew members.

"I anticipate there will be a meeting," press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department says some 30,000 hard core unemployed have been placed in jobs under a new concentrated employment program.

Stanley Rutenberg, manpower administrator, said Wednesday the program providing job training, job placement and other services to 75,000 people as of June 30 has cost $50 million so far.

Rutenberg said the cost of training and moving the 30,000 into jobs has averaged less than $2,000 each.

The new program, announced in March 1967, coordinates various Labor Department manpower programs and concentrates on areas with the highest unemployment.

Teacher Talks

On Involvement

KENT, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati school official told the Ohio Education Association Wednesday that teachers have to become more involved in urban problems if education in cities is to improve.

"Some teachers work under the mistaken notion good schools can exist amidst confusion," Lawrence Hawkins, assistant superintendent for student development in Cincinnati told 725 teacher-delegates at the final session of the OEA's four-day conference.

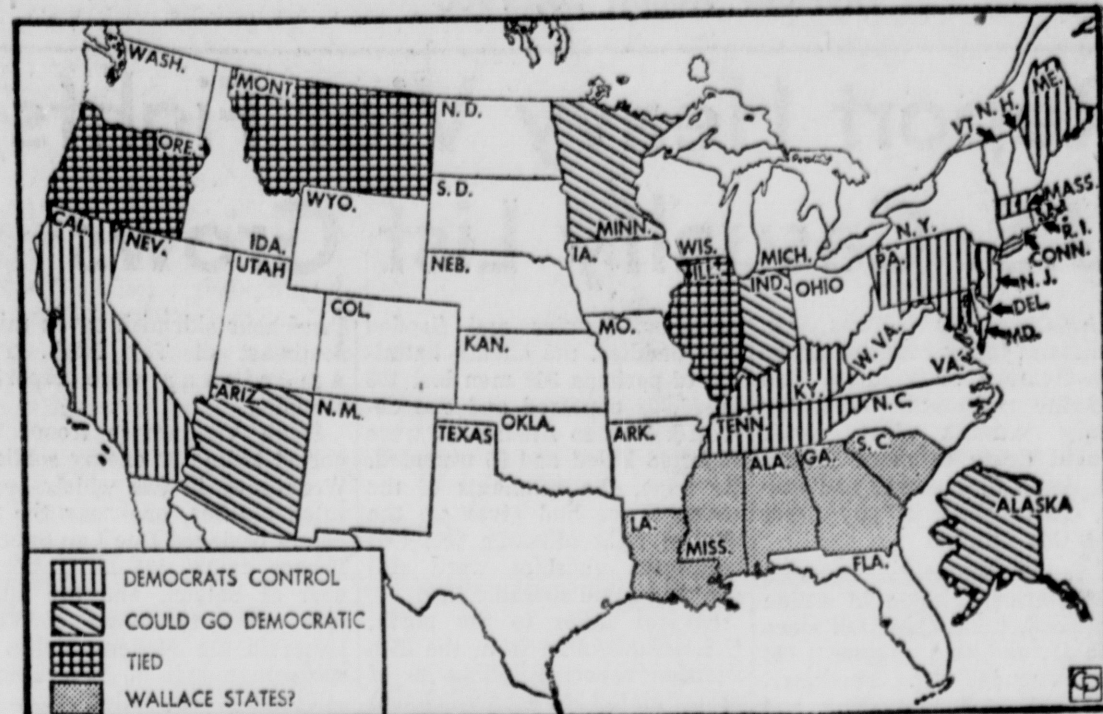

Hawkins said teachers traditionally are the last to sign up to help in community urban problems outside the schools.

He said teachers must try to give underprivileged children a sense of self respect.

Republicans Concentrate On 11 States for Victory

PARTY CONTROL — The map shows party controls of the various states' House of Representatives delegations. The GOP is concentrating on winning a majority of the seats in 11 states to insure winning the presidential election should it go to the House.

By JONATHAN EDWARDS
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The GOP is reported concentrating on 11 states in an effort to ensure a Republican president in the event the November election is thrown into the House of Representatives.

With public opinion polls showing increasing support for George Wallace, the independent presidential candidate, the major parties are faced with the strong possibility that neither the Democratic nor Republican nominees will receive a majority of the electoral vote.

In that event, the House would elect a president from among the three candidates receiving the highest vote. Each of the 50 states would cast one vote, regardless of its size and population.

Since the Republicans control 18 state delegations in the House, they must elect in November a majority of the congressmen in eight more states to control the 26 state delegations needed to pick a president. The Democrats now control 29 states delegations. The state delegations in Illinois, Montana and Oregon are tied.

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford termed the GOP's chances of picking up the needed states "not bad." The Michigan congressman has consistently warned of the possibility the election may be thrown into the House.

Republicans must win 31 more seats to control the House, but this in itself would not ensure the control of 26 delegations. They feel, however, that if they could elect a majority of the congressmen in 26 states, that in itself would also bring with it the control of the House.

The eight states in which Democrats now control a majority of the delegations and in which the Republicans are centering their drive, along with the current political division there, follows:

California 21-17, Kentucky 4-3; Maine 2-0; Maryland 5-3; Massachusetts 7-5; New Jersey 9-6; Pennsylvania 14-13; and Tennessee 5-4. The three states with tied delegations in which the GOP is also pressing its drive are Illinois 12-12; Montana 1-1 and Oregon 2-2.

To be successful, the GOP must also hold its majority in the 18 states it now controls and at least four of these states could go Democratic. These are Alaska 1-0; Arizona 2-1; Indiana 6-5; and Minnesota 5-3.

There is speculation that Wallace may carry five Southern states — Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina — with 48 electoral votes. If no candidate receives 270 electoral votes, the decision will rest with the House.

Charge Father In Son's Slaying

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—John C. Reakes, charged with first-degree murder in the strangulation of his 13-year-old son, is scheduled for arraignment today in nearby Struthers Municipal Court.

Reakes, 40, is held without bond in Mahoning County jail here.

Deputies found the body of Martin Reakes, 13, entombed in the basement of the family home at New Middletown, about 13 miles southeast of here.

Authorities said the boy died Monday of strangulation and also had been hit on the head with the handle of a pickax. Fresh mortar was found around a section of the basement wall where the boy's body was sealed.

The Czechoslovak border officer said: "Up there is a Soviet barrier where all cars with license plates other than Czechoslovak are turned back."

Teacher Talks On Involvement

KENT, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati school official told the Ohio Education Association Wednesday that teachers have to become more involved in urban problems if education in cities is to improve.

"Some teachers work under the mistaken notion good schools can exist amidst confusion," Lawrence Hawkins, assistant superintendent for student development in Cincinnati told 725 teacher-delegates at the final session of the OEA's four-day conference.

Hawkins said teachers traditionally are the last to sign up to help in community urban problems outside the schools.

He said teachers must try to give underprivileged children a sense of self respect.

Republicans Concentrate On 11 States for Victory

PARTY CONTROL — The map shows party controls of the various states' House of Representatives delegations. The GOP is concentrating on winning a majority of the seats in 11 states to insure winning the presidential election should it go to the House.

By JONATHAN EDWARDS
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The GOP is reported concentrating on 11 states in an effort to ensure a Republican president in the event the November election is thrown into the House of Representatives.

With public opinion polls showing increasing support for George Wallace, the independent presidential candidate, the major parties are faced with the strong possibility that neither the Democratic nor Republican nominees will receive a majority of the electoral vote.

In that event, the House would elect a president from among the three candidates receiving the highest vote. Each of the 50 states would cast one vote, regardless of its size and population.

Since the Republicans control 18 state delegations in the House, they must elect in November a majority of the congressmen in eight more states to control the 26 state delegations needed to pick a president. The Democrats now control 29 states delegations. The state delegations in Illinois, Montana and Oregon are tied.

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford termed the GOP's chances of picking up the needed states "not bad." The Michigan congressman has consistently warned of the possibility the election may be thrown into the House. Republicans must win 31 more seats to control the House, but this in itself would not ensure the control of 26 delegations. They feel, however, that if they could elect a majority of the congressmen in 26 states, that in itself would also bring with it the control of the House.

The eight states in which Democrats now control a majority of the delegations and in which the Republicans are centering their drive, along with the current political division there, follows:

California 21-17, Kentucky 4-3; Maine 2-0; Maryland 5-3; Massachusetts 7-5; New Jersey 9-6; Pennsylvania 14-13; and Tennessee 5-4. The three states with tied delegations in which the GOP is also pressing its drive are Illinois 12-12; Montana 1-1 and Oregon 2-2.

To be successful, the GOP must also hold its majority in the 18 states it now controls and at least four of these states could go Democratic. These are Alaska 1-0; Arizona 2-1; Indiana 6-5; and Minnesota 5-3.

There is speculation that Wallace may carry five Southern states — Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina — with 48 electoral votes. If no candidate receives 270 electoral votes, the decision will rest with the House.

Charge Father In Son's Slaying

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—John C. Reakes, charged with first-degree murder in the strangulation of his 13-year-old son, is scheduled for arraignment today in nearby Struthers Municipal Court.

Reakes, 40, is held without bond in Mahoning County jail here.

Deputies found the body of Martin Reakes, 13, entombed in the basement of the family home at New Middletown, about 13 miles southeast of here.

Authorities said the boy died Monday of strangulation and also had been hit on the head with the handle of a pickax. Fresh mortar was found around a section of the basement wall where the boy's body was sealed.

Ohio Liquor Department Curbs Bowling Sponsors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new directive by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control will stop beer distributors and other permit holders from paying thousands of dollars each year into bowling league treasuries. The move was directed against attempts of some bowling proprietors to "shake down" distributors, officials said.

Under a ruling by Liquor Director Donald D. Cook, permit holders can buy shirts or uniforms as bowling team sponsors, but cannot contribute money for other fees.

The permit holders, especially brewers and distributors who pay an entrance fee for bowling teams, the department declared, are participating in a lottery.

Floyd C. Moon, deputy director, said the regulation is similar to attorney general and court rulings about the supermarket promotions that were declared illegal because they are lotteries.

In the bowling situation, he explained, the department concluded a sponsor is participating in a lottery because money in bowling league prizes must be won. Further, he said, the prize funds are a form of promoting business for the bowling proprietors.

Prize money donated by sponsors goes to league secretaries and not to the bowling house. Team members contribute to the prize fund each week, and it is distributed to winners at the end of the season.

Moon said the regulation was adopted because sponsors complained about proprietors asking for league fee money based on the amount of business done with various distributors. Although the complaints apparently came from brewers or distributors, all bars and carry-overs also are affected.

Moon said some entry fees had grown as high as $200, which he said promoted the complaints. Moon also hinted that bowling houses may be faced with more enforcement of liquor laws and lottery prohibitions.

Most of them have liquor permits and allow drinking throughout the premises. Bowling is a money sport and thus bowlers are gambling on a permit premises, he said.

Liquor regulations prohibit any form of gambling on a permit premises.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Tenant, Landlord Storm over Screens

DEAR ABBY: We have always owned our own home and have recently started renting, and we have a question to ask. In a rented house, WHO is supposed to pay for putting up and taking down the screens and storm windows? The owner or the tenant?

Now the important question: what would you have done? Called their attention to this second-hand Christmas card and questioned their reason for such a cheap act? Or would you have said a prayer for them and wiped them off your slate?

PERPLEXED

DEAR RENTING: Unless it is specifically stated in the contract, the tenant usually assumes that responsibility. (If he doesn't he is probably trying to pass the buck—or save one.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 20 years old. She had a mental breakdown 6 months ago and spent 12 weeks in a hospital.

She's home now. She's not working, but she dates regularly as she is a very pretty girl. We have not met any of the fellows she has gone out with as she meets them somewhere else. Last night she stayed out all night and we were worried sick.

Our daughter is still in therapy, so I called her psychiatrist asking if we could lay down two rules of dating.

(1) Her dates MUST pick her up at home so we can at least meet them.

(2) No more staying out all night.

The psychiatrist said NO. If we were to impose such rules on her she might do something to harm herself. My husband agrees with the psychiatrist. I do not. Where do you stand?

MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: I stand with you (and so do three competent psychiatrists with whom I have consulted about your problem). Unless your daughter's psychiatrist has more information about your daughter than you have and is reasonably certain that you have no cause to worry, she may already be doing something to "harm" herself.

A long as your daughter is under 21, and living at home, she should abide by the rules you set. Yours are certainly not unreasonable.

DEAR ABBY: Here is one for the books. We have wealthy relatives living in a distant city. We rarely see them, but at Christmas time we do exchange Christmas cards.

Last Christmas we discovered they used second-hand Christmas cards! Their name and address sticker was used to cover up the other signature. We couldn't believe what we were seeing, as they are in the millionaire class. As for ourselves, we are just moderately fixed.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey as the Democratic candidate for president seemed almost anticlimactic in Wednesday's television coverage of the tumultuous party convention and the streets in turmoil.

The focus of interest—by delegates, by networks and certainly by the viewers—was the show of force in the hall and tense conditions in downtown Chicago where peace demonstrators and authorities clashed.

Temper were hot and emotions ran high within the convention hall, but the center of attention was five miles away. The electrical workers strike prevented live television of helmeted police and National Guardsmen in gas masks and battle dress scuffling with the demonstrators, but taped scenes were broadcast, often during the oratory.

At one point, live cameras in closeup, followed a New York delegate as he was hustled out of the hall for a security check. The resultant melee included much pushing, jostling and yelling. Press and broadcasting reporters were caught in the middle.

NBC's Aline Saarinen covered one mob scene during which police used what she called Chemical Mace. In a choked voice she complained of a stinging throat and lungs. Later, NBC reported she had been gassed and required medical treatment.

While demonstrators downtown were taunting authorities with a chant of "Sieg heil," delegates were talking about "atrocities," "brutality" and "a police state." One group of delegates decided to walk out and some others wanted to recess the convention and finish its business in some other city.

When Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, in a nominating speech, spoke of "turmoil and violence competing with this great convention for the attention of the American people," he was being literal. One network audience-research expert estimated that the tumultuous goings-on were being watched by 46-million Americans.

As Ribicoff spoke of "Gestapo tactics in the streets of Chicago," the TV cameras on the face of the city's mayor, Richard J. Daley, revealed a man reacting with quick fury.

Even commentators were affected by the atmosphere. William F. Buckley Jr., during his nightly tangle with Gore Vidal on ABC was so angered by a Vidal crack that he threatened to punch him.

Dull, the convention wasn't. Dismaying, it was.

Ohio Liquor Department Curbs Bowling Sponsors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new directive by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control will stop beer distributors and other permit holders from paying thousands of dollars each year into bowling league treasuries. The move was directed against attempts of some bowling proprietors to "shake down" distributors, officials said. Under a ruling by Liquor Director Donald D. Cook, permit holders can buy shirts or uniforms as bowling team sponsors, but cannot contribute money for other fees. The permit holders, especially brewers and distributors who pay an entrance fee for bowling teams, the department declared, are participating in a lottery.

Floyd C. Moon, deputy director, said the regulation is similar to attorney general and court rulings about the supermarket promotions that were declared illegal because they are lotteries. In the bowling situation, he explained, the department concluded a sponsor is participating in a lottery because money in bowling league prizes must be won. Further, he said, the prize funds are a form of promoting business for the bowling proprietors.

Prize money donated by sponsors goes to league secretaries and not to the bowling house. Team members contribute to the prize fund each week, and it is distributed to winners at the end of the season.

Moon said the regulation was adopted because sponsors complained about proprietors asking for league fee money based on the amount of business done with various distributors. Although the complaints apparently came from brewers or distributors, all bars and carry-outs also are affected. Moon said some entry fees had grown as high as $200, which he said promoted the complaints. Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nomination of Hubert H. Humphrey as the Democratic candidate for president seemed almost anticlimactic in Wednesday's television coverage of the tumultuous party convention and the streets in turmoil.

The focus of interest—by delegates, by networks and certainly by the viewers—was the show of force in the hall and tense conditions in downtown Chicago where peace demonstrators and authorities clashed.

Tempers were hot and emotions ran high within the convention hall, but the center of attention was five miles away. The electrical workers strike prevented live television of helmeted police and National Guardsmen in gas masks and battle dress scuffling with the demonstrators, but taped scenes were broadcast, often during the oratory.

At one point, live cameras in closeup, followed a New York delegate as he was hustled out of the hall for a security check. The resultant melee included much pushing, jostling and yelling. Press and broadcasting reporters were caught in the middle.

NBC's Aline Saarinen covered one mob scene during which police used what she called Chemical Mace. In a choked voice she complained of a stinging throat and lungs. Later, NBC reported she had been gassed and required medical treatment.

While demonstrators downtown were taunting authorities with a chant of "Siege heil," delegates were talking about "atrocities," "brutality" and "a police state." One group of delegates decided to walk out and some others wanted to recess the convention and finish its business in some other city.

When Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, in a nominating speech, spoke of "turmoil and violence competing with this great convention for the attention of the American people," he was being literal. One network audience-research expert estimated that the tumultuous goings-on were being watched by 46-million Americans.

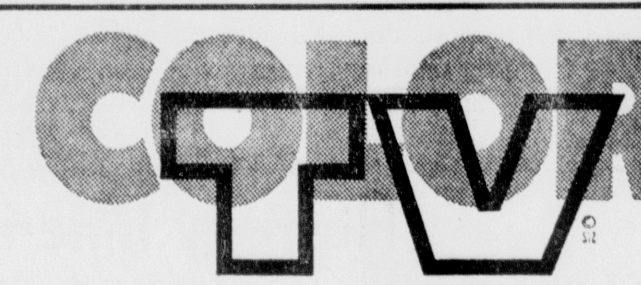

As Ribicoff spoke of "Gestapo tactics in the streets of Chicago," the TV cameras on the face of the city's mayor, Richard J. Daley, revealed a man reacting with quick fury. Even commentators were affected by the atmosphere. William F. Buckley Jr., during his nightly tangle with Gore Vidal on ABC was so angered by a Vidal crack that he threatened to punch him.

Dull, the convention wasn't. Dismaying, it was.

Dear Abby: Tenant, Landlord Storm over Screens

DEAR ABBY: We have always owned our own home and have recently started renting, and we have a question to ask. In a rented house, WHO is supposed to pay for putting up and taking down the screens and storm windows? The owner or the tenant?

RENTING

DEAR RENTING: Unless it is specifically stated in the contract, the tenant usually assumes that responsibility. (If he doesn't he is probably trying to pass the buck—or save one.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 20 years old. She had a mental breakdown 6 months ago and spent 12 weeks in a hospital.

She's home now. She's not working, but she dates regularly as she is a very pretty girl. We have not met any of the fellows she has gone out with as she meets them somewhere else. Last night she stayed out all night and we were worried sick.

Our daughter is still in therapy, so I called her psychiatrist asking if we could lay down two rules of dating.

(1) Her dates MUST pick her up at home so we can at least meet them.

(2) No more staying out all night.

The psychiatrist said NO. If we were to impose such rules on her she might do something to harm herself. My husband agrees with the psychiatrist. I do not. Where do you stand?

MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I stand with you (and so do three competent psychiatrists with whom I have consulted about your problem). Unless your daughter's psychiatrist has more information about your daughter than you have and is reasonably certain that you have no cause to worry, she may already be doing something to "harm" herself.

A long as your daughter is under 21, and living at home, she should abide by the rules you set. Yours are certainly not unreasonable.

DEAR ABBY: Here is one for the books. We have wealthy relatives living in a distant city. We rarely see them, but at Christmas time we do exchange greeting cards.

Last Christmas we discovered they used second-hand Christmas cards! Their name and address sticker was used to cover up the other signature. We couldn't believe what we were seeing, as they are in the millionaire class. As for ourselves, we are just moderately fixed.

Cycle of Life

The newlyweds' dream of a home is a cottage for two. As a practical afterthought, there should be an extra room for visiting friends or in-laws.

Then the second bedroom becomes a nursery and, as the family grows, so do the additions or the move to a larger house.

The years suddenly quicken and before it's fully realized the high school graduate is off to college. Marriage comes next and soon the diminishing family is rattling around in the big old place.

When the last daughter is wed and the youngest son is off on his own, the big, old house only serves to function at Thanksgiving, Christmas or a wedding anniversary.

The celebrations over, it stands largely unoccupied, a lonely place and a burden. Its sale becomes a wrenching necessity. The joyful memories must remain behind.

For Mrs. Cornelia Bulkeley-Johnson of Churchill, England, leaving the big, old three-story house was too much to bear. Her solution was to have the two top stories removed, leaving her with seven of the 21 rooms she loved.

An unthinkable decision for those without her means. But somehow the sentiment is shared by all.

Noisier with Age

Some discotheques produce more decibels than jet planes, a University of Tennessee hearing expert has found. In some discotheques, in fact, the noise level is only two decibels below "the pain threshold."

This will not surprise many parents, who will view it — as does the hearing expert — as just another example of the bedlam in which young people live these days.

The same investigator has found youngsters' hearing is deteriorating from year to year. In testing 3,000 school children, he found one ninth grader in seven had developed a measurable degree of deafness, while by twelfth grade the proportion was one in five.

The implication is clear enough, and it confirms parental suspicions that the noise gets worse as the ears get older.

Hostility Inherited

Feel hostile? If so, blame heredity. Tests have now shown that identical twins are more alike in aggressive tendencies than nonidentical pairs.

Prof. Steven G. Vandenberg, a specialist in behavioral genetics at the University of Colorado, presented his findings at the International Congress of Genetics in Tokyo.

That hostility in a large measure may be inherited is the conclusion reached as a result of the tests by Prof. Vandenberg.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a taxi driver gets tired of hearing:

"Can you change a $20 bill? Sorry, it's the smallest I've got on me."

"This is a hold-up. Don't give us any trouble. Just pull over to the curb like a nice fellow, and fork over the cash."

"Please double park here while I run into this department store and take back a dress I bought last week. It'll only take me a minute at the most."

"Never mind trying to give me the scenic ride. I know the city. Just take me there the quickest way."

"Why are we going so slow? You haven't got into a funeral procession by mistake, have you?"

"We're just a couple of lonely sailors, Mac, fresh off our ship. You like to do your patriotic duty, don't you? Well, then, how about taking us to a bar where we can meet a couple of patriotic chicks?"

"I see by the identity card on your dashboard that you are Herman Pfeifferbaum. I'm Jack Gassoway—in life insurance. While we're stuck in traffic here, why don't I show you a new policy that'll enable you to retire from this kind of life at 62?"

"I wanna go home. Ish thish cab taken?"

"Step on it, Herman. If you make it to the air terminal in time for me to make my plane, there'll be an extra quarter in for you." "Let's see—65, 75, 80, 90, and five pennies make 95. The exact fare, right on the button. Sorry, that's all the change I have. I'll tip you double the next time I ride with you."

"We're tourists. I suppose if I asked you to steer us to a good restaurant, you'd only take us to one that gave you a 10 per cent commission, wouldn't you?"

"Don't pay any attention to my little son, driver. Ignore him. Since he got that bean shooter, he shoots it at everybody."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

More than 78 per cent of American males are "insensitive" to the four basic tastes, says Dr. Ernest Dzendolet of the University of Massachusetts. That means ill taste is in three-fourths of us.

The four basic tastes are sweet, salty, sour and bitter. The advantage of being "insensitive" is you can take the bitter with the sweet.

Dr. Dzendolet says "flavor is a combination of taste, odor, temperature and maybe even the way it feels." If the flavor lasts, it's a combination of taste, odor, temperature and maybe even the way you chew.

The fact that three-fourths of American males are "insensitive" to taste doesn't mean they're indifferent. It just means their bite is worse than their bark.

Dr. Dzendolet says 28 per cent of American males cannot distinguish between sourness and bitterness. And perhaps about the same percentage are distinguished by both.

Only 10 per cent of American females confuse sourness and bitterness. The other 90 per cent can usually tell by his voice.

Apparently everybody knows saltiness. Season in and season out.

Bright Future Seen For South Africa

UPINGTON, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's future is bright because it has solved the race relations problem through separate development, Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster said in a speech here.

Separate development, the now fashionable term for apartheid, is not based on the assumption that whites were superior to non-whites. Its basic philosophy, Vorster said, is that races are different, but that equal opportunities should be created for all.

He said people would eventually come to South Africa not as tourists but to see how people of different languages and colors lived together in peace and harmony.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IT WAS A SWELTERING, 98-degree day in the Catskills, and Mrs. Bromberg was overcome by the heat. As she toppled off her chair on the veranda, several other guests rushed up to offer assistance, but her daughter ordered them back. "Mama will be all right in a minute," she assured them. "Just open up her mink coat."

To prove her contention that men were just as vain and clothes-conscious as women, Lady Nancy Astor, at a large dinner party in London, once suddenly declared in a very loud voice, "It's a pity that the world's most important men pay so little attention to the way they dress. Why, right at this table the most celebrated gentleman is wearing the most clumsily knotted tie."

Without exception, and as though propelled by machinery, every man in the room immediately put his hand to his tie to straighten it.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

During the summer and in the fall after spending many days at the beach swimming, I developed a fungus infection in the ears. For a long time I have also had athlete's foot. Is there any relationship between the two and how can they be treated?

Mr. J. Y., California
Dear Mr. Y.: The cause of athlete's foot is a fungus or mold which seems to flourish and luxuriate in warm moist areas. The place in between the toes is an excellent breeding ground for the fungus. The outer ear canal harbors the fungus and because of the moisture and warmth encourages the prolific growth of it.

There may be a relationship between the fungus in the ear and the fungus of the feet. The only way that this can be definitely established is by microscopic examination and culture. Whether or not it is the same fungus is not nearly as important as the need for active treatment of both conditions independently.

The outer ear canal must be actively treated after the fungus is removed to be sure that it does not take up a position underneath the skin from which it cannot be driven. There are a number of drugs which now are used in the ear canal to resist the growth of the fungus and destroy it. Fungus of the ears tends to return and treatment, therefore, must be persistent if it is ever to be cleared up permanently.

Fungus of the toes can be eradicated by careful drying of the feet and by rigid hygienic precautions in pools and gymnasiums. There are now excellent drugs that can be used by mouth and others that are applied directly to control fungus infections. Be sure that the shoes are powdered with anti-fungal medicines to avoid recurrences.

I have read that it is possible to make a diagnosis of an actual physical disease by the study of handwriting. Is this really true and where is it done?

Mrs. U., Indiana
Dear Mrs. U.: The science of grapho-diagnosis has been used in addition to many other tests for the diagnosis of disease. It is truly remarkable how much knowledge can be gathered from handwriting by those who are well trained in this field. This study is never sufficiently reliable to make all other tests unnecessary. Rather it does help by adding more to the stockpile of information about the total person.

Dr. Harry O. Teltcher of New York City has been conducting a very intensive study of handwriting at the Morton Prince Institute for Psychotherapy where patients are completely studied for psychoneurotic patterns to further more effective treatment. Hypnosis is a valuable tool in psychotherapy. At the Morton Prince Clinic it is used, in addition to all other forms of treatment, to help reduce the long periods of time usually needed for therapy.

Grapho-diagnosis is also used, not as a replacement for any known diagnostic method, but to help further the accumulation of knowledge about patients. I have been impressed by some of the deepest emotional problems that have been revealed by Dr. Teltcher's perception of handwriting. It is well-known that patients with Parkinson's Disease and with other neurological problems have very distinctive handwriting.

Small Appetite

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Ed Diddle, retired basketball coach at Western Kentucky University, purchased a pie and the baker asked if he wanted it sliced.

"Yes," said Diddle, "cut it in four pieces."

"If you like," the baker continued, "I can cut it in six pieces."

"None, I couldn't eat six pieces," Diddle answered.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — In just four trading days through last Monday, more than $200 million was shaved from the market value of shares in Control Data Corp., a computer manufacturer.

During these days more than $200 million of CDA stock also changed hands, a figure which isn't far from the value of an entire week's trading in all stocks on the New York Stock Exchange not so many years ago.

In this time some 1,510,800 shares were bought and sold and the price of the stock, called CDA for short, dropped from $152 to $126.52. About one-sixth of all CDA shares were traded in the four days.

Just as interesting was the pattern of this extraordinary trading. Big blocks, defined by the stock exchange as those of 10,000 shares or more, accounted for about 750,000 shares. In just one transaction on Thursday, when shares tumbled $16.75, 374,000 shares changed hands.

On that day CDA was the most active stock on the Big Board, with sales of 927,000. For such a high-priced stock to head the most active list on such volume is almost unheard of, something like a $25 book heading the best seller list.

Curiously, although gains outnumbered losses on the most active list that Thursday by 2 to 1, CDA lost nearly $150 million in market value.

As is obvious from such statistics, the selling in CDA during these four days had nothing to do with the invasion of Czechoslovakia or with any other news events, which frequently are offered as the reason for wide swings.

Equally obvious is that such selling wasn't the result of panic by small investors, who never could muster such selling power. Clearly, this was the work of the so-called institutions.

The institutions are the mutual and pension funds, the insurance firms, the bank trusts, the endowments. They control assets of many scores of billions. Mutual funds alone account for between $40 billion and 50 billion and pensions account for twice that much. And much of this asset value is in stock.

A survey—by Capital Gains Research—of mutual fund holdings of CDA show, for instance, that in the first quarter of this year 41 mutual funds owned 2.5 million of CDA's 8.8 million shares outstanding.

This, remember, is the amount owned by mutual funds alone. The hundreds of thousands of shares owned by other institutions brings that total much higher, for CDA is a favorite of other institutions, too. CDA is just one of several situations in recent years that illustrate the impact that institutions can have on stock prices. True, sometimes their moves cause little price movement. But wide swings are not uncommon.

It isn't too soon for Washington to get moving on its contemplated $875,000 study of the impact of institutional investors, particularly because of their threat to the security of smaller investors.

'Alienation' Is a Cliche

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

"Alienation" used to be a five-dollar word taken out of the works of Karl Marx to say something about declassed intellectuals who were out of sorts about the way industrial society was moving. Later the psychoanalysts took it over. Now it is a cliche on everybody's lips.

The ridiculous aspect is that nobody seems happy any more if he isn't alienated. The Democratic Convention here is a talking advertisement of the fact that much of America is on a binge against togetherness.

The "party of the people" is assembled in a city where cops stand on every corner, where a picture of a tank in a newspaper carries a caption that identifies it with south side Chicago, not Prague, where hippies and yuppies assemble in Lincoln Park to practice a sort of group karate, where the whisper that the Black Panthers are coming to town sends shivers down the spines of those who are expecting race war to erupt on the signal that Hubert Humphrey (or Eugene McCarthy, it doesn't seem to matter) has been nominated.

Every so-called public service group here seems determined to use the convention-dictated necessity for communication and movement to hold "society" up. The taxi drivers strike; the black bus drivers follow suit. Telephone service is practically nil.

Time was when the Democrats were "togetherness" personified.

Any Chicago Convention of the old days would have exhibited the political science professoriat (such as the University of Chicago's Charlie Merriam and Harold Lasswell), the writers (Chicago's own James T. Farrell, for instance), the reformers (Harold Ickes and his ilk), the back-of-the-wards people, the big city bosses (Ed Kelly and Pat Nash, Frank Hague of Jersey City), the populist farmers, the lily-white delegations from Mississippi and Georgia, the labor leaders, and the college age kids in happy fraternization. But this time there is hardly a shoulder in the city that isn't carrying a couple of out-size chips.

If you are a hawk, or merely a perplexed citizen who doesn't see how a great nation can walk out of its Vietnam commitment overnight, you'll get a sarcastic word from Harvard economist Keith Galbraith in the Conrad Hilton Lobby. The Kennedys are afeudin' among themselves (it's Larry O'Brien V. Kenny O'Donnell, and Dick Goodwin V. Ted Sorensen). If you are a yuppie you had better keep out of Mayor Daley's neighborhood or you are apt to find your hair forcibly cut.

One segment of the "people" — the blue collars who have an equity in their homes — have deserted the party of their fathers to become Wallaceites. One foolish fellow parades along Michigan Avenue with a sign proclaiming that the Democratic Party is "anti-white."

That ain't the way they've heard it in the Blackstone Ranger slums south of the University of Chicago. When Mayor Daley heard the black radical leaders were getting out of town while the convention was going on lest they be tempted to mayhem, he breathed a sigh of profound relief. The black leaders think the Demos are anti-black.

Poor Hubert Humphrey, the small-town druggist's son from the populist plains of South Dakota, must be the most bewildered man in the world. He loves people, white, black, blue, green, and small red. He hates the war that LBJ has hung around his neck. He'd spend the treasury's last cent to wipe out slums. He genuinely wants everybody to be happy.

But nobody wants to be happy except in being unhappy. Perhaps here is the clue to the national mood. The kids here don't look unhappy at all as they compose their unprintable yippie platforms and loiter up and down the streets of old town (the local version of New York's east Greenwich Village) carrying pictures of Humphrey with the caption, "pot is fun." The suspicion occurs that half the alienation expressed here is just a gigantic put-on.

This doesn't change the fact that slums aren't pleasant places in which to live. It doesn't make the war palatable to those whose sons are fighting it. But what's the matter with a system that permits you to say what you want even under the eyes of Mayor Daley's 12,000 fuzz whose main desire after all is just to keep people from being shot? I wish I knew.

Search Spreads

For Missing

West Virginian

WIERTON, W. Va. (AP) — State Police say the search for a 23-year-old woman reported missing nearly two weeks ago has spread to Maryland and Ohio.

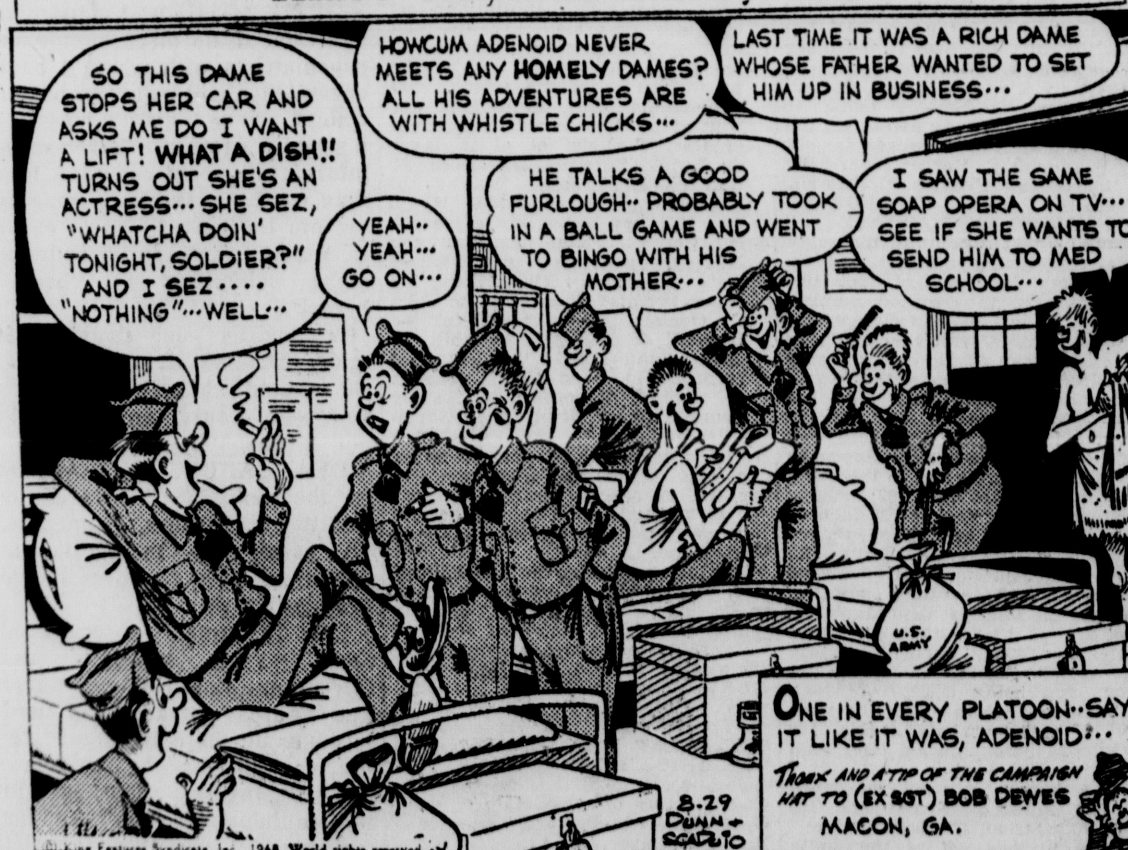

Cpl. H. A. McGinnis said the woman, Inez Bamblink of Chester, W. Va., was last seen Aug. 14 riding in a car with Frank Earl Brown of Keyser, W. Va., McGinnis said Brown had been visiting Miss Bamblink and her foster mother, Mrs. Hazel Mickael.

McGinnis says Mrs. Mickael has filed charges against Brown for allegedly stealing her car. The car, he added, was found about a week ago in Garrett County, Md., near the West Virginia state line.

McGinnis said Miss Bamblink was a retarded invalid.

Cycle of Life

The newlyweds' dream of a home is a cottage for two. As a practical afterthought, there should be an extra room for visiting friends or in-laws.

Then the second bedroom becomes a nursery and, as the family grows, so do the additions or the move to a larger house.

The years suddenly quicken and before it's fully realized the high school graduate is off to college. Marriage comes next and soon the diminishing family is rattling around in the big old place.

When the last daughter is wed and the youngest son is off on his own, the big, old house only serves to function at Thanksgiving, Christmas or a wedding anniversary.

The celebrations over, it stands largely unoccupied, a lonely place and a burden. Its sale becomes a wrenching necessity. The joyful memories must remain behind.

For Mrs. Cornelia Bulkeley-Johnson of Churchill, England, leaving the big, old three-story house was too much to bear. Her solution was to have the two top stories removed, leaving her with seven of the 21 rooms she loved.

An unthinkable decision for those without her means. But somehow the sentiment is shared by all.

Noisier with Age

Some discotheques produce more decibels than jet planes, a University of Tennessee hearing expert has found. In some discotheques, in fact, the noise level is only two decibels below "the pain threshold."

This will not surprise many parents, who will view it — as does the hearing expert — as just another example of the bedlam in which young people live these days.

The same investigator has found youngsters' hearing is deteriorating from year to year. In testing 3,000 school children, he found one ninth grader in seven had developed a measurable degree of deafness, while by twelfth grade the proportion was one in five.

The implication is clear enough, and it confirms parental suspicions that the noise gets worse as the ears get older.

Hostility Inherited

Feel hostile? If so, blame heredity. Tests have now shown that identical twins are more alike in aggressive tendencies than nonidentical pairs.

Prof. Steven G. Vandenberg, a specialist in behavioral genetics at the University of Colorado, presented his findings at the International Congress of Genetics in Tokyo.

That hostility in a large measure may be inherited is the conclusion reached as a result of the tests by Prof. Vandenberg.

"This is a hold-up. Don't give us any trouble. Just pull over to the curb like a nice fellow, and fork over the cash."

"Please double park here while I run into this department store and take back a dress I bought last week. It'll only take me a minute at the most."

"Never mind trying to give me the scenic ride. I know the city. Just take me there the quickest way."

"Why are we going so slow? You haven't got into a funeral procession by mistake, have you?"

"We're just a couple of lonely sailors, Mac, fresh off our ship. You like to do your patriotic duty, don't you? Well, then, how about taking us to a bar where we can meet a couple of patriotic chicks?"

"I see by the identity card on your dashboard that you are Herman Pfeifferbaum. I'm Jack Gassoway—in life insurance. While we're stuck in traffic here, why don't I show you a new policy that'll enable you to retire from this kind of life at 62?"

"I wanna go home. Ish thish cab taken?"

"Step on it, Herman. If you make it to the air terminal in time for me to make my plane, there'll be an extra quarter in for you." "Let's see—65, 75, 80, 90, and five pennies make 95. The exact fare, right on the button. Sorry, that's all the change I have. I'll tip you double the next time I ride with you."

More than 78 per cent of American males are "insensitive" to the four basic tastes, says Dr. Ernest Dzendolet of the University of Massachusetts. That means ill taste is in three-fourths of us.

The four basic tastes are sweet, salty, sour and bitter. The advantage of being "insensitive" is you can take the bitter with the sweet.

Dr. Dzendolet says "flavor is a combination of taste, odor, temperature and maybe even the way it feels." If the flavor lasts, it's a combination of taste, odor, temperature and maybe even the way you chew.

The fact that three-fourths of American males are "insensitive" to taste doesn't mean they're indifferent. It just means their bite is worse than their bark.

Dr. Dzendolet says 28 per cent of American males cannot distinguish between sourness and bitterness. And perhaps about the same percentage are distinguished by both.

Only 10 per cent of American females confuse sourness and bitterness. The other 90 per cent can usually tell by his voice.

Apparently everybody knows saltiness. Season in and season out.

Bright Future Seen For South Africa

UPINGTON, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's future is bright because it has solved the race relations problem through separate development, Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster said in a speech here.

Separate development, the now fashionable term for apartheid, is not based on the assumption that whites were superior to non-whites. Its basic philosophy, Vorster said, is that races are different, but that equal opportunities should be created for all.

He said people would eventually come to South Africa not as tourists but to see how people of different languages and colors lived together in peace and harmony.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

During the summer and in the fall after spending many days at the beach swimming, I developed a fungus infection in the ears. For a long time I have also had athlete's foot. Is there any relationship between the two and how can they be treated?

Mr. J. Y., California Dear Mr. Y.: The cause of athlete's foot is a fungus or mold which seems to flourish and luxuriate in warm moist areas. The place in between the toes is an excellent breeding ground for the fungus. The outer ear canal harbors the fungus and because of the moisture and warmth encourages the prolific growth of it.

There may be a relationship between the fungus in the ear and the fungus of the feet. The only way that this can be definitely established is by microscopic examination and culture. Whether or not it is the same fungus is not nearly as important as the need for active treatment of both conditions independently.

The outer ear canal must be actively treated after the fungus is removed to be sure that it does not take up a position underneath the skin from which it cannot be driven. There are a number of drugs which now are used in the ear canal to resist the growth of the fungus and destroy it. Fungus of the ears tends to return and treatment, therefore, must be persistent if it is ever to be cleared up permanently.

Fungus of the toes can be eradicated by careful drying of the feet and by rigid hygienic precautions in pools and gymnasiums. There are now excellent drugs that can be used by mouth and others that are applied directly to control fungus infections. Be sure that the shoes are powdered with anti-fungal medicines to avoid recurrences.

I have read that it is possible to make a diagnosis of an actual physical disease by the study of handwriting. Is this really true and where is it done?

Mrs. U., Indiana Dear Mrs. U.: The science of grapho-diagnosis has been used in addition to many other tests for the diagnosis of disease. It is truly remarkable how much knowledge can be gathered from handwriting by those who are well trained in this field. This study is never sufficiently reliable to make all other tests unnecessary. Rather it does help by adding more to the stockpile of information about the total person.

Dr. Harry O. Teltcher of New York City has been conducting a very intensive study of handwriting at the Morton Prince Institute for Hypnotherapy where patients are completely studied for psychoneurotic patterns to further more effective treatment. Hypnosis is a valuable tool in psychotherapy. At the Morton Prince Clinic it is used, in addition to all other forms of treatment, to help reduce the long periods of time usually needed for therapy.

Grapho-diagnosis is also used, not as a replacement for any known diagnostic method, but to help further the accumulation of knowledge about patients. I have been impressed by some of the deep-seated emotional problems that have been revealed by Dr. Teltcher's perception of handwriting.

It is well-known that patients with Parkinson's Disease and with other neurological problems have very distinctive handwriting.

Something To Think About . . . 'The Card Club'

By JEAN CRIST

On the fourth Wednesday of every month, all year long, there occurs a special gathering of special people in the small town called Circleville. Most of the people of the town remain unaware of this "happening" and I thought it time they were given this vital information.

Eight women of a variety of shapes and personalities have for about 15 years met together in each other's homes disguised as a group, affectionately known by all, as "the card club." Now when the whole thing started, this was really true. The avowed purpose was to play cards, but several years ago the card tables were left folded because playing cards interfered too much with the talking. How can you carry on a conversation about something important when you have to stop and figure out which card to play? So the name remains for the lack of a better one because it's difficult to describe what transpires during one of these 8 p.m. to midnight sessions.

You might be acquainted with some of the members of this illustrious group. First, there is Delightful Davis, she's married to that handsome insurance man you see around town. Then, Gentle Gulick, she's married to the implement man whose face is familiar to the local farmers. Fair Fissell, that's the wife of the guy with the horses. Sharp Skinner, whose spouse is a local purveyor of gastronomic delights. Clever Clifton, whose husband is "Dynamic." Bustling Bingman, whose husband is head of the clever remarks department at the local "big" plant. Meticulous McGuire, she's married to that insurance man that gets up happy and smiling early in the morning. And Cautious Crist whose husband is the "travelingest" of the traveling salesman.

The meeting is automatically called to order as soon as two of the members get together. There are no set rules and it is a "no holds barred" affair. The one that talks the loudest holds the floor and the one that is clever enough to jump in while the talker is taking a breath can get his chance. The meek have learned to be aggressive or go home. We usually start on the local or national hottest topics and give our opinions and conclusions on the subject. Sometimes there is violent disagreement, but generally there seems to be a common agreement at the end of the discussion as to the proper dispensation of the problem.

HUSBANDS leave home when the "happening" is at their home. It is easier and they know intuitively they aren't wanted. If the children are old enough they leave too, simply because they can't stand to be around those noisy women. If the children are young, they are sent to their room with orders not to bother Mommy, cause she's having "card club."

Naturally, the expenditure of energy necessary to solving all their own, the town's, and the nation's problems in one evening causes these women to need some energy-giving food occasionally. Up until recently they had a large amount of well-prepared food which was thoroughly enjoyed but due to their expanding matronly figures, they have given up some of this indulgence and are satisfied with a tasty dessert course and coffee.

Now I can hear some of you saying what a ridiculous way for grown women with families to spend their time. There are certainly more cultural pursuits to which they could devote that time and by which their families and community would profit from more.

I disagree! Every woman needs a "card club." What could be more helpful and stimulating for any woman than a place where she can go and be with people who allow her to be herself. Where she can relax and be relieved of the pressure of wearing the many masks that women are required to wear today to fulfill their role as the contemporary woman. Where she can be with people who respect her for her strengths and love her despite her weaknesses. A place where she can hear that others have some of the same fears and problems she has. Where laughter is heard loud, clear and often and where the bonds of friendship are so strong that no argument or separateness of political or religious belief can break them.

I would wish every woman as privileged as I, to be a part of such a group which shares each member's joys and sorrows with equal interest and

14 Men Named To Ohio's Agricultural Hall Of Fame

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The names of 14 men were enshrined in Ohio's Agricultural Hall of Fame at an annual breakfast at the State Fair Wednesday.

About 500 persons including Agriculture Director John Stackhouse and Dean Roy M. Kottman of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture attended along with Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"Agriculture is more important than the Democratic and Republican parties combined," Gov. Rhodes said at the breakfast. "We are trying to make Ohio No. 1 in food processing . . . We want all Ohioans to support and buy Ohio grown products first. This includes honey and Ohio sugar beets."

The Governor urged everyone to support buyers of livestock at the fair, noting they had paid record prices to youngsters who intend to use the money to go to college.

Howard M. Call of Summit County, a leader in agriculture and community development, education, forestry and seed improvement, and C.M. Ferguson of Franklin County, director of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, were on hand for the honors.

Deceased leaders honored by enshrinement were L.P. Bailey, Belmont County, Jersey cattle breeder for more than 50 years; Oscar E. Bradute, Greene County, first president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; John T. Brown, Madison County, farmer, lawmaker and administrator and former Ohio lieutenant governor and director of agriculture; A. B. Graham, Clark County, founder of the 4-H Club.

Perry L. Green, Portage County, early organizer of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and president for 15 years; Henry P. Miller, Delaware County, farmer and agriculture leader for 50 years; Amos I. Root, Medina County, "evangelist of modern beekeeping"; A. P. Sandles, Putnam County, organizer of the "Corn Boys" trips to Washington.

Charles E. Thorne, Wayne County, first director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station; Norton S. Rules on Dresses Unenforceable

GLASGOW, Mont. (AP)—The school board recently ruled girls' dresses must reach the knee, but a survey showed Glasgow stores carry nothing as long as knee-length skirts.

"We can't buy 'hem any more," said one perplexed clothier.

Mothers plan to bring the matter up at the Wednesday night meeting of the board. Current regulations say the girls will be suspended upon first offense and called before the board with their parents on a second offense.

Something To Think About . . . 'The Card Club'

By JEAN CRIST

On the fourth Wednesday of every month, all year long, there occurs a special gathering of special people in the small town called Circleville. Most of the people of the town remain unaware of this "happening" and I thought it time they were given this vital information.

Eight women of a variety of shapes and personalities have for about 15 years met together in each other's homes disguised as a group, affectionately known by all, as "the card club." Now when the whole thing started, this was really true. The avowed purpose was to play cards, but several years ago the card tables were left folded because playing cards interfered too much with the talking. How can you carry on a conversation about something important when you have to stop and figure out which card to play? So the name remains for the lack of a better one because it's difficult to describe what transpires during one of these 8 p.m. to midnight sessions.

You might be acquainted with some of the members of this illustrious group. First, there is Delightful Davis, she's married to that handsome insurance man you see around town. Then, Gentle Gulick, she's married to the implement man whose face is familiar to the local farmers. Fair Fissell, that's the wife of the guy with the horses. Sharp Skinner, whose spouse is a local purveyor of gastronomical delights. Clever Clifton, whose husband is "Dynamic." Bustling Bingman, whose husband is head of the clever remarks department at the local "big" plant. Meticulous McGuire, she's married to that insurance man that gets up happy and smiling early in the morning. And Cautious Crist whose husband is the "travelingest" of the traveling salesman.

The meeting is automatically called to order as soon as two of the members get together. There are no set rules and it is a "no holds barred" affair. The one that talks the loudest holds the floor and the one that is clever enough to jump in while the talker is taking a breath can get his chance. The meek have learned to be aggressive or go home. We usually start on the local or national hottest topics and give our opinions and conclusions on the subject. Sometimes there is violent disagreement, but generally there seems to be a common agreement at the end of the discussion as to the proper dispensation of the problem.

HUSBANDS leave home when the "happening" is at their home. It is easier and they know intuitively they aren't wanted. If the children are old enough they leave too, simply because they can't stand to be around those noisy women. If the children are young, they are sent to their room with orders not to bother Mommy, cause she's having "card club."

Naturally, the expenditure of energy necessary to solving all their own, the town's, and the nation's problems in one evening causes these women to need some energy-giving food occasionally. Up until recently they had a large amount of well-prepared food which was thoroughly enjoyed but due to their expanding matronly figures, they have given up some of this indulgence and are satisfied with a tasty dessert course and coffee.

Now I can hear some of you saying what a ridiculous way for grown women with families to spend their time. There are certainly more cultural pursuits to which they could devote that time and by which their families and community would profit from more.

I disagree! Every woman needs a "card club." What could be more helpful and stimulating for any woman than a place where she can go and be with people who allow her to be herself. Where she can relax and be relieved of the pressure of wearing the many masks that women are required to wear today to fulfill their role as the contemporary woman. Where she can be with people who respect her for her strengths and love her despite her weaknesses. A place where she can hear that others have some of the same fears and problems she has. Where laughter is heard loud, clear and often and where the bonds of friendship are so strong that no argument or separateness of political or religious belief can break them.

I would wish every woman as privileged as I, to be a part of such a group which shares each member's joys and sorrows with equal interest and

14 Men Named To Ohio's Agricultural Hall Of Fame

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The names of 14 men were enshrined in Ohio's Agricultural Hall of Fame at an annual breakfast at the State Fair Wednesday.

About 500 persons including Agriculture Director John Stockhouse and Dean Roy M. Kottman of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture attended along with Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"Agriculture is more important than the Democratic and Republican parties combined," Gov. Rhodes said at the breakfast. "We are trying to make Ohio No. 1 in food processing . . . We want all Ohioans to support and buy Ohio grown products first. This includes honey and Ohio sugar beets."

The Governor urged everyone to support buyers of livestock at the fair, noting they had paid record prices to youngsters who intend to use the money to go to college.

Howard M. Call of Summit County, a leader in agriculture and community development, education, forestry and seed improvement, and C.M. Ferguson of Franklin County, director of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, were on hand for the honors.

Deceased leaders honored by enshrinement were L.P. Bailey, Belmont County, Jersey cattle breeder for more than 50 years; Oscar E. Bradute, Greene County, first president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; John T. Brown, Madison County, farmer, lawmaker and administrator and former Ohio lieutenant governor and director of agriculture; A. B. Graham, Clark County, founder of the 4-H Club.

Perry L. Green, Portage County, early organizer of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and president for 15 years; Henry P. Miller, Delaware County, farmer and agriculture leader for 50 years; Amos I. Root, Medina County, "evangelist of modern beekeeping"; A. P. Sandles, Putnam County, organizer of the "Corn Boys" trips to Washington.

Charles E. Thorne, Wayne County, first director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station; Norton S. Townsend, Franklin County, professor of agriculture, legislator; Allen Trimble, Highland County, pioneer farmer and sheep breeder, and Joseph E. Wing, Champaign County, known as "Alfalfa Joe" because of his work in introducing alfalfa to Ohio.

Miss Connie Elaine Carter
Is Bride of James D. Craig

MRS. JAMES DONALD CRAIG

Green Hills Church of Christ in Nashville, Tenn., was the setting for the wedding of Miss Connie Elaine Carter and James Donald Craig. The Rev. Jim Bill McInteer performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with masses of greenery and candles, 3 p.m., Aug. 25.

Barry Lumpkin, organist, and Henry Arnold, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a gown of off-white tulle and Chantilly lace, fashioned by her mother. The bodice of lace featured a scoop neckline and elbow length bell shaped sleeves. Matching lace encircled the hemline of the skirt forming a point in the front. One panel of her illusion veil, held by a cluster of petals and lilies of the valley, fell into chapel length over the detachable satin train. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis, lily of the valley and tube roses, centered with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Rayburn Adcock, sister of the bride, of Gordlettsville, Tenn., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Leann Gross and Janice Imler of Circleville, and Glenda Travis of Denver, Colo. They were attired in gowns similar to the bride's in dotted Swiss, with matching hair bows. The matron of honor wore a rose colored gown and the other attendants' dresses were pink. They carried bouquets of sweetheart roses matching their gowns. Their jewelry was seed pearl necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride.

Flower girl was Beth Maynard, a cousin of the bride, and ring bearer was Tommy Adcock, a nephew.

Mr. Craig served as his son's best man. Ushers were Carroll Wells, Jimmy Ormon and Steve Hooper, all of Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Carter was attired in an aqua dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Craig wore a baby blue nylon lace dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

A reception in the social rooms of the church, immediately followed the wedding. The table was covered with a pink satin cloth overlaid with white net. The wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and a bouquet of pink and white flowers and lighted pink tapers carried out the color theme.

For a brief wedding trip, the bride wore a two piece dress of white corded silk and cotton with pink and white accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School and is a senior at David Lipscomb College where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Craig is a graduate of David Lipscomb College and received his master of library science degree from George Peabody College in Nashville. He is assistant to the director at the joint university libraries in Nashville, where the couple will reside at 1121 Woodvale Drive.

Sen. Gruening Is Defeated

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Mike Gravel, an Anchorage real estate developer, apparently has put an end to the 35-year political career of Sen. Ernest Gruening, long-time Vietnam war critic.

With 373 of Alaska's 410 precincts reported, unofficial returns in their race for the Democratic senatorial nomination gave Gravel, 38, a lead of 16,820 to 14,354.

Gravel claimed victory, but Gruening, 81-year-old former newspaperman and magazine editor, said he would await final returns.

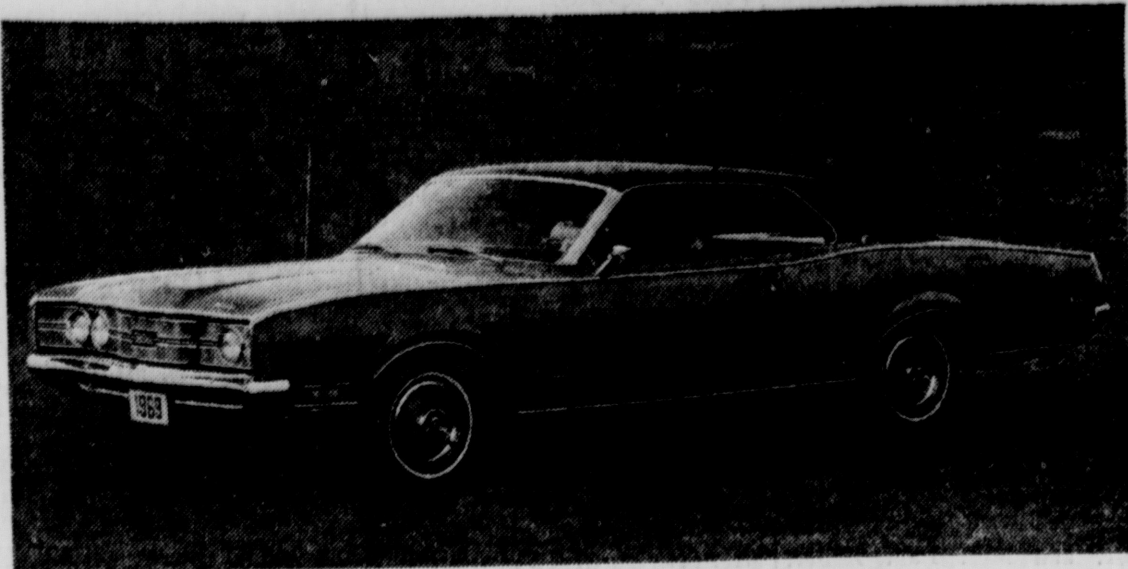

Still to be counted are an estimated 3,500 absentee ballots and results from small precincts in the 49th state's remote interior and Aleutian Islands. The absentee ballots are to be counted Friday. Results from the outlying precincts are not expected for days.

Gravel, former speaker of the Alaska House of Representatives, said he is not a hawk but believes that the United States must honor its Vietnam commitment.

Mead, Woodward Companies Merge

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Stockholders of the Dayton-based Mead Corp. and the Woodward Corp. of Birmingham, Ala., approved Wednesday the merger of the two firms. Woodward, producer of pipes and fittings, will operate as a division of Mead, manufacturer of paper and paper products.

Under the merger, nine-tenths of a share of new series $2.80 Mead voting preferred stock was exchanged for each share of Woodward common. The exchange of stock left the firms with joint assets of $700 million.

Bludgeoned Youths Seen By a Dismayed McCarthy

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, visibly shaken, visited several hotel rooms Wednesday night that had been set aside for victims injured in antiwar demonstrations outside his headquarters hotel.

McCarthy had been on the 23rd floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel watching the presidential nomination which he has sought for nine months slip from his reach on television.

Somebody told him that the injured were being brought to a suite of rooms eight floors below under the supervision of his close friend Dr. William Davidson.

McCarthy and his Secret Service agent followed by reporters immediately took the elevator down.

He stepped into one room, where a young man with a bandage on his knee said he would be okay and asked the Minnesota what it all meant.

His voice barely under control, McCarthy replied, "It's the way this movement will go on from here."

McCarthy has often said that if the Democratic party nominates Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency it will bring widespread disaffection among young people interested in politics.

As he emerged from another temporary first aid room, where a young man with a mustache and a blue shirt covered with blood was sitting on a bed, a nurse in civilian clothes approached him.

The nurse tried to speak but burst into tears. McCarthy put his hand on her shoulder, and kept saying, "It'll be alright. I'm upstairs if you need me."

When photographers clustered around, McCarthy looked up and said "Get out of the way fellows, get out. You don't have to see everything."

Then his voice rose to an angry shout, "Get the hell out of the way."

Someone asked him to comment on what he had seen.

"You don't have to comment when you see something like that," he said. "It goes back to the whole business of having the convention here in Chicago."

Earlier McCarthy said he had offered to throw all of his support to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in order to deny the presidential nomination to Humphrey.

Wittenberg Prexy Goes to New Post

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Dr. John N. Stauffer, Wittenberg University's ninth president, left the university today for Huntington, Pa., where he will become president of his alma mater, Juniata College, on Sept. 1.

Dr. Stauffer has been associated with Wittenberg for 21 years, the past five years as president.

FBI To Probe Police Brutality

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has launched an investigation of what a Democratic congressman labels "unnecessary and violent interference" with reporters at the Democratic National Convention.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark ordered the investigation Wednesday and Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., urged the attorney general to send investigators immediately "to fully evaluate the performance of the Chicago Police Department and the Illinois National Guard."

Moss is chairman of the House subcommittee on government information.

More than 24 newsmen said they were roughed up Monday and Tuesday covering demonstrations or the convention. Several incidents were shown on nationwide television.

"Indications of serious violations of civil rights guaranteed under both the Constitution and the civil rights acts of the past several years appear rampant in Chicago," said Moss, who saw some of the incidents while watching television at his Washington home.

"Unnecessary and violent interference with the reporting of bonafide news of great national import is particularly disturbing," said Moss.

Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said, "The security is needed to prevent violence. The same forces creating disorder outside the convention hall are creating it inside."

"Who is creating the disorder, Mr. Mayor?" asked a newsmen.

"You are," replied Daley.

Tom Corpora of United Press International said he was arrested after demanding the name of a police officer who Corpora said had insulted him. Photographer Jean Vassal of France was thrown into a police van.

CBS news said convention floor reporter Mike Wallace was struck in the face by a police officer and arrested. He was later released after the officer and Wallace shook hands.

New Central State President Views University's Future

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Herman R. Branson envisions predominantly Negro Central State University as a school dedicated to educating all who want to learn—black or white—while at the same time enhancing the future of American Negroes.

"Anybody who wants to come to Central State will be welcome," Branson said.

"All of us hope profoundly that America will become a society that is nonracial. Central State is going to work toward that goal."

This 54-year-old Branson said Wednesday night in accepting an offer to become the third president of the trouble-plagued university of about 3,000 students in Wilberforce.

Branson, current head of the physics department at Howard University in Washington, D.C., said he would approach his new job with "intelligent consideration."

"Let's don't talk about problems," Branson stated while indicating he plans no immediate or big changes.

The physicist and government researcher added that he wanted time to examine the school's problems.

Branson said one of his key goals would be trying to set up an all-round educational program.

"A college must have a composite program," he added. But the 5-foot-11, 200-pound

Garden Gossip and Helpful Hints

By MRS. E. P. HANSON
'The Lady by the Lake'

The month of August is 29 days young. In two more days it will pass into history as the hottest month of them all. The corn has grown tall and full. Most gardeners bemoaned the season though there was enough moisture that lawns stayed nice and green.

My apology to Mr. and Mrs. John Downs. I gave credit for the small apple tree with great big apples (transparent) to his brother Dewey. The John Downs live in Garden City and the Dewey Downs live in Knollwood Village.

The James Van Gundys have finished their new white brick split level home on Route 3 and are now in the process of landscaping and putting in a lawn. They have a large lot and on the side of a hill. A high retaining wall forms one side of the yard.

Mrs. Harold Abney of 149 W. Mound St. tells me that she has planted only pumpkin seeds this spring. The harvest has been very good. Where nothing else grew she has sprawling vines of blossoms and pumpkins. The big reason why the pumpkins were planted was that Mrs. Abney likes to fry the blossoms for a delicacy that she had not had since moving off the farm several years ago. This is her recipe for "Fried Pumpkin Blossoms." Dip them in flour, salt and a little pepper and fry in hot cooking oil until brown and crisp. Sounds good.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Barnett

Robb Reassigned To Supply Post

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — Marine Capt. Charles Robb, President Johnson's son-in-law, has been reassigned from an infantry company command to the 1st Marine Division supply section.

Robb, 28, the husband of Lynda Bird Johnson, had commanded I Co., 3rd Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment for four months in field and security roles 20 miles south of Da Nang.

A Marine spokesman said that when reassigned, Robb was the third most senior company commander in the 1st Division and that the reassignment was routine.

Robb's new job involves supply planning at the 1st Division headquarters on the western fringe of Da Nang.

New Money Mill

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has joined the small band of nations equipped to make its own "folding money."

A rupees 120 million ($16 million) mill built at Hoshangabad, 600 miles south of Delhi, with British collaboration now enables India to produce 2,700 tons of bank note cloth a year.

It is no longer "paper" money because very little paper goes into its making. Bank notes are mostly made of natural fibres to make them more durable than ordinary paper. The bank note cloth has water marks and even aluminum threads to help foil counterfeiters.

India's "folding money" at the end of 1966 amounted to rupees 30 billion ($4 billion). The economy of a country depends to a great extent on the security and inviolability of the bank note cloth.

The bulk of the Hoshangabad output will be passed on to the Reserve Bank of India security printing press at Nasik, north of Bombay.

Robert Louis Stevenson spent his honeymoon in Napa Valley, Calif., in 1880.

With Pumpkin Show six weeks away, it is time to start grooming your indoor plants. Mark and stake your flowers for your arrangements. It is not too early to be thinking about the flower shows. I will have a program and theme for you next week.

Most of the summer the back of the house has had about three feet of red and white petunias. They are cascade. Then the first part of August the canna's variegated leaves started to show higher than the petunias and for the last two weeks have been a flaming red streak against the white of the house and the green lawn.

Along the road side is a four foot flower garden with early spring flowers, then lillies, and now delphiniums, petunias and large red geraniums and clusters of mums.

In soft grey shingled home on the Bolender Road lives James Sabine. This spring he planted several flats of pale pink edged with maroon-veined petunias called "Sugar Plum." The petunias have spread to a 12-inch border in front of their home and along the fence side of the yard. They are most attractive.

Karen Schieber, daughter of Mrs. Charles Schieber of 595 Ridgewood Dr., is the gardener in the family. Both of their homes show her handy work. The flowers at the Ridgewood address are red and white petunias called Cascade with purple Ageratum and a rose bed. The roses are Corda Perfecta, Montazumma, Chrysler Imperial, Pink Peace, Talsman and Garden Glory. Their home at the lake has flowers and vegetables to which Karen is responsible, with Larry doing the honors to the lawn, which he keeps like a coat of velvet. Mrs. Schieber as a child always had peanuts in her garden and so Karen has some along with peas, beans, lettuce and beets. Bright yellow teddy bear type marigolds wreath the walks and the patio. Tall deep red cosmos vie with white zinnias.

You can plant daffodils very early in the fall; it takes longer for them to mature.

Brussel sprouts and lettuce can be planted for late fall eating.

This can be a good time to plant trees for a windbreak and landscaping. In the deciduous class are Amur Maple, Pin Oak, Balsam Poplar, White Poplar, White Mulberry, Osage Orange and Downy Hawthorn. The evergreens Red Cedar, Canadian Red, Norway Spruce, Japanese, Scots, White Yellow Pine and Hemlock are very interesting trees to plant.

With the ripening of tomatoes, put clean straw or grass under the fruit that rests on the ground and you will have less spoilage. There seems to be a very good harvest of tomatoes due to the weather such as we had this summer.

Corn is growing very well and many, many people are canning and freezing it. Beans — both green and wax have done very well this year with very little rust.

Watering may have to be done if we do not get rain in a day or two. When watering, make sure that you water a good two inches with a spray rather than with force.

Agnew To Speak In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the Republican vice presidential nominee, will be the featured speaker at the annual Cuyahoga County Republican Party Picnic Sept. 8 at Euclid Beach Park.

Agnew's visit will be his second to Cleveland since receiving the vice presidential nomination. He addressed the convention of the Ohio League of Young Republicans here last Saturday night.

Edward Kennedy's Star Bright on Demo Horizon

CHICAGO (AP) — The rising star of another Kennedy blazed brightly on Democratic horizons today despite the last brother's refusal to be drawn into the White House fray this year.

Many politicians feel Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's rejection of the draft movement that bubbled up at the Democratic National Convention this week only postponed his presidential nomination until 1972 or 1976—depending on which way the party's fortunes flow this fall.

With Vice President Hubert

H. Humphrey's first-ballot victory crushing the challenges of war critics Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and George S. McGovern, the Kennedy banner was practically the only place Democratic dissidents could go.

"I think he is the hope of the Democratic party," said California Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, who had flirted with the draft movement until Kennedy killed it hours before the convention chose Humphrey Wednesday night.

McCarthy revealed he had offered to throw all his support behind the 36-year-old Kennedy to try to deny the nomination to Humphrey because of the Vietnam war issue.

The Minnesota senator said, "If Ted had a better chance of stopping it, I'd support him on the first ballot and not even make a run for it."

McGovern also said he'd back Kennedy if he were asked, but Kennedy said he could not accept the nomination "for personal and family reasons" and asked delegates to drop the draft effort.

Convention Chairman Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma read a telegram Kennedy had sent.

Kennedy wired, "I am deeply grateful to those who have expressed their confidence in me and are interested in placing my name before this convention, but I respectfully request that the nomination be withdrawn."

Kennedy's name wasn't entered, but he got 12 1/2 votes as a tribute anyway.

Ike Finally Taken Off Critical List

Ex-President's Condition Still Said Serious

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, now off the critical list, was reported today to be making new progress.

The progress is such, doctors at the Walter Reed Army Hospital said, that they are curtailing to a single medical bulletin a day reports on his condition unless there is some presently unforeseen change.

The doctors, who announced Wednesday that the general had been removed from the critical list—although still in a "serious" condition—also reported in a medical bulletin issued shortly after 10 a.m. EDT:

"Gen. Eisenhower has had another comfortable night. The decreased evidence of cardiac irritability, noted in yesterday's bulletins persists.

"The general's appetite is improving and his restricted sodium diet is slowly being liberalized."

There have recently been three medical reports per day. The former president and World War II commander had been listed as critical since suffering his seventh heart attack Aug. 16.

Doctors, reporting Eisenhower has gone four days without major heart irritability, said Wednesday "we no longer view the immediate situation as critical but still view the over-all disease as serious."

But doctors say they can't tell yet whether Eisenhower, 77, will be able to return to his normal active life.

He had returned from a round of golf in Palm Springs, Calif., April 29 when he suffered the first of the four heart attacks which have kept him virtually bedridden for four months.

"Because of the extent of Gen. Eisenhower's underlying coronary artery disease, his present condition must still be considered serious, albeit not necessarily critical at this time," said the afternoon medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital.

"The long range outlook is still guarded and the potential for sudden reversal of the current favorable trend is ever present," it added.

The general's latest trouble stemmed from spurts of ineffectual heart fluttering called ventricular fibrillation, interspersed with irregular spasms called heart irritability.

Trashword Puzzle

NEW YORK (AP) — Crossword fans who speed through the most difficult newspaper puzzles might be confounded by the clues in a little puzzle printed for garbage collectors.

The puzzle appears in "Sweep," quarterly magazine for 14,000 employees of the city's Sanitation Department. It has been composed for the past nine years by James H. McBurney, the department's deputy chief of staff.

The answers often are simple words but the clues are Sanitation shoptalk. McBurney's latest puzzle has such technical clues as "incinerator rating unit" (ton), "Snow dumping ring item" (tag), DS auction sale lowest bid price" (upset) and "spreader material" (slag).

Confiscate 'Pot'

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Customs Service confiscated more than 35 tons of marijuana during the year ending June 30. That was more than it has ever seized in a 12-month period. It confiscated 13 tons the previous year.

Seek Assassins Of U.S. Diplomat In Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemalan authorities pressed the hunt today for the killers of U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein, but there was no word of progress.

The assassins machine-gunned Mein Wednesday afternoon after boxing in his limousine on a main street of Guatemala City. The 54-year-old career diplomat was cut down as he tried to escape.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were "shocked and grieved" by the slaying believed to be the first assassination of a U.S. ambassador. Washington asked Guatemala for a full investigation.

President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro declared a 30-day state of siege and proclaimed three days of mourning. His decree expressed the "deep condolences of the government and people of Guatemala to the government and people of the United States."

Mendez in a statement to newsmen described the ambassador as a "sincere friend of Guatemala."

It was assumed that Mein was the victim of one of the extremist factions who have been warring in Guatemala for months. But there was no indication whether his assassins were from the ultraright or the ultraleft.

Embassy press attache Richard Knowles of Waterloo, Iowa, gave this account of the assassination:

Mein and his Guatemalan chauffeur were en route from the envoy's residence to the embassy when a car pulled in front of the limousine and a truck pulled up behind, preventing the ambassador's automobile from moving either way. Two men forced the chauffeur out of the limousine. Mein tried to flee, but a burst of machine-gun fire brought him down.

HAPPY HOMECOMING—Until two months ago Gaetan Paris was an unknown electrical designer in Montreal, Que. Today he is a celebrity—the first Canadian to survive heart transplant surgery. He is carving a turkey prepared by his wife for his welcome home dinner. They have five children. The first Canadian heart transplant patient died.

Gilligan Appears Satisfied With Ohio Convention Votes

By DON BANDY
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — "We changed the foreign policy of the United States," says John J. Gilligan. "It will never be the same."

Gilligan, Ohio Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, made the claim Wednesday even though the Democratic National Convention rejected a minority Vietnam platform plank calling for an unconditional halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

Gilligan, who played a key role in drafting the minority plank, said he will work for the man he and a convention majority voted for as the party's presidential nominee — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

But he warned he would at the same time conduct his own Senate campaign "the way I started out—to bring about an end of the Vietnam War."

The Ohio delegation's vote went pretty much as expected as Humphrey swept to an easy victory over Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and George S. McGovern.

Humphrey got 94 votes, Mc-

Carthy 18, McGovern two and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts one.

The sole Kennedy vote was cast by William J. Kelly of Fremont, who participated in the "draft Kennedy" move before it fizzled out.

Gilligan, who had favored McCarthy and McGovern because of their stands on Vietnam, indicated he voted for Humphrey after it became apparent the vice president had the nomination locked up.

Monkey Flight Set by NASA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scientists have given a go-ahead to a monkey's space flight next March—now that a 15-pound Macaque has successfully undergone four weeks in a 57-inch-wide capsule.

The tiny primate in a flight suit emerged "in excellent health" from the biosatellite spacecraft Wednesday, a spokesman said. The same capsule is scheduled to be launched March 27 from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Although the monkey lost slight weight, "his brain functioned well throughout the test," said the spokesman at the University of California at Los Angeles.

For 30 days, the primate-carrying biosatellite is scheduled to stay in orbit testing effects of confinement and weightlessness on future human astronauts manning space laboratories.

Mader Twins Win Scholarships

Circleville twins, Jane S. and Mary L. Mader, 160 Pinckney St., were named to receive scholarships awarded through the Miami University Alumni Assn. for the academic year, 1968-69 commencing in September.

Jane will receive the Class of 1951 Scholarship while her sister will be the recipient of the Class of 1937 Scholarship. Both of these awards were established through gifts received from the respective classes and have been presented annually since their establishment.

Both girls were graduated from Circleville High School, and are entering their junior year in the School of Education at Miami. Each of them has been selected for Cwen, national sophomore recognition society for women, at Miami and both are members of Angel Flight, Air Force women's service organization.

The girls are members of Delta Delta Delta Sorority and the Associated Women Students organization. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Mader.

Woman Swindled By 'Repairmen'

Circleville Police were informed of a case of petty larceny by trick Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Minnie Lumpe, 333 Walnut St., told police that two men came to her door Wednesday and told her that her roof needed repairs.

According to the report, Mrs. Lumpe stated she did not know the men and they told her they were from Amanda. One man then said that he did not have his wallet with him and would need $15 to buy materials to fix the roof. Mrs. Lumpe gave him the money.

The men told Mrs. Lumpe that they would return in about an hour to do the job. They never returned, Mrs. Lumpe said.

Ike Finally Taken Off Critical List

Ex-President's Condition Still Said Serious

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, now off the critical list, was reported today to be making new progress.

The progress is such, doctors at the Walter Reed Army Hospital said, that they are curtailing to a single medical bulletin a day reports on his condition unless there is some presently unforeseen change.

The doctors, who announced Wednesday that the general had been removed from the critical list—although still in a "serious" condition—also reported in a medical bulletin issued shortly after 10 a.m. EDT:

"Gen. Eisenhower has had another comfortable night. The decreased evidence of cardiac irritability, noted in yesterday's bulletins persists.

"The general's appetite is improving and his restricted sodium diet is slowly being liberalized."

There have recently been three medical reports per day. The former president and World War II commander had been listed as critical since suffering his seventh heart attack Aug. 16.

Doctors, reporting Eisenhower has gone four days without major heart irritability, said Wednesday "we no longer view the immediate situation as critical but still view the overall disease as serious."

But doctors say they can't tell yet whether Eisenhower, 77, will be able to return to his normal active life.

He had returned from a round of golf in Palm Springs, Calif., April 29 when he suffered the first of the four heart attacks which have kept him virtually bedridden for four months.

"Because of the extent of Gen. Eisenhower's underlying coronary artery disease, his present condition must still be considered serious, albeit not necessarily critical at this time," said the afternoon medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital.

"The long range outlook is still guarded and the potential for sudden reversal of the current favorable trend is ever present," it added.

The general's latest trouble stemmed from spurts of ineffective heart fluttering called ventricular fibrillation, interspersed with irregular spasms called heart irritability.

Trashword Puzzle

NEW YORK (AP) — Crossword fans who speed through the most difficult newspaper puzzles might be confounded by the clues in a little puzzle printed for garbage collectors.

The puzzle appears in "Sweep," quarterly magazine for 14,000 employees of the city's Sanitation Department. It has been composed for the past nine years by James H. McBurney, the department's deputy chief of staff.

The answers often are simple words but the clues are Sanitation shoptalk. McBurney's latest puzzle has such technical clues as "incinerator rating unit" (ton), "Snow dumping ring item" (tag), "DS auction sale lowest bid price" (upset) and "spreader material" (slag).

Confiscate 'Pot'

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Customs Service confiscated more than 35 tons of marijuana during the year ending June 30. That was more than it has ever seized in a 12-month period. It confiscated 13 tons the previous year.

Seek Assassins Of U.S. Diplomat In Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemalan authorities pressed the hunt today for the killers of U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein, but there was no word of progress.

The assassins machine-gunned Mein Wednesday afternoon after boxing in his limousine on a main street of Guatemala City. The 54-year-old career diplomat was cut down as he tried to escape.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were "shocked and grieved" by the slaying believed to be the first assassination of a U.S. ambassador. Washington asked Guatemala for a full investigation.

President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro declared a 30-day state of siege and proclaimed three days of mourning. His decree expressed the "deep condolences of the government and people of Guatemala to the government and people of the United States."

Mendez in a statement to newsmen described the ambassador as a "sincere friend of Guatemala."

It was assumed that Mein was the victim of one of the extremist factions who have been warring in Guatemala for months. But there was no indication whether his assassins were from the ultraright or the ultraleft.

Embassy press attache Richard Knowles of Waterloo, Iowa, gave this account of the assassination:

Mein and his Guatemalan chauffeur were en route from the envoy's residence to the embassy when a car pulled in front of the limousine and a truck pulled up behind, preventing the ambassador's automobile from moving either way. Two men forced the chauffeur out of the limousine. Mein tried to flee, but a burst of machine-gun fire brought him down.

Soldiers Happy With Viet Plank

SAIGON (AP) — Almost unanimously, top-ranking American staff officers in Vietnam today welcomed the Democratic National Convention's refusal to endorse an unconditional halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

"You won't find anyone around here who wants to halt the bombing," one officer said. Top South Vietnamese officials also expressed gratification privately. There was no official comment from President Nguyen Van Thieu.

With the current bombing policy generally endorsed by the platforms of both U.S. parties, soldiers in Vietnam tended to react to the Democratic nomination of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey according to their personal optics.

THESE 60 TIRES represent the number the average American family will purchase in half a century, say Good-year statistics from Akron, Ohio. Today's prices would make them cost about $1,400. The 60 tires do not include those delivered on new cars.

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy bucked the Democratic party establishment with legions of breathless youngsters and none of the time-honored weapons and wiles of the successful politician.

He had no money, no name, no political base, no organization, no influential support.

So he lost, in the conventional sense of the word, in that he failed to win his party's presidential nomination.

But McCarthy won something, too—especially in the light of the rather limited goal he set for himself when he announced his candidacy nine months ago. Then, it was merely to take the war in Vietnam before the American people, personified in a candidate, to allow those people a vote on that war.

Eugene Joseph McCarthy also won his race, in the sense that American politics may never be the same after the romantic adventure that began so quietly in the New Hampshire snow last winter.

His young supporters, although looking Wednesday night as if the world had just ended, are also taking heart from some of the battles won by McCarthy on his way to losing the war.

He was the leading edge of the avalanche that ultimately forced President Lyndon Baines Johnson to announce he would not seek another term.

He spread throughout the land a new belief that housewives, clerks and college kids—thousands and thousands of college kids—could find themselves a niche and play a role in shaping the nation's future.

He gave a new image and likeness to the word "politician." There have been few if any like this former professor, who rejected virtually every political orthodoxy and tradition, spoke low, and avoided the carnival trappings of a political campaign whenever possible.

Yet in these very victories lay his ultimate political defeat by Hubert H. Humphrey in the convention Wednesday night.

McCarthy lost, too, because in his 20 years in politics, he had never developed a political base, to which he could return for major support when the time came for the big move. He was an efficient senator, well-liked in Minnesota, but he had little patronage to give out, few er political debts to collect.

McCarthy lost because he remained far out of the Democratic club in a year when the convention was deeply entrenched within it. There was a yawning generation gap between the McCarthyites and the party regulars.

Neither spoke the other's language or ever really tried to.

The regulars never could understand why McCarthy would not concede defeat when he lost to the late Sen. Robert F. Kenedy in most of the primaries.

McCarthy went it alone, almost boasting, in his quiet way, that he never asked for the support of major political figures, big business, big labor.

He talked to these forces, of course—but rarely was his appeal much stronger than, "I hope you will give us some consideration in your general examination of the candidates."

That wasn't playing the game, and was another reason McCarthy lost.

Arrest Chinese In Hong Kong For Illegal Entry

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong authorities gave up efforts to make 99 refugees from Red China return to the mainland and arrested them Wednesday on charges of illegal immigration.

The move virtually guaranteed asylum here for the refugees, who told authorities they feared death for not meeting fishing quotas if they returned to China. Refugees arrested as illegal immigrants normally are permitted to remain in the colony.

The 99 were among more than 200 refugees who fled from China aboard 18 sampans Tuesday and landed on one of this colony's outlying islands. Authorities towed the sampans back to Chinese waters Tuesday night, but eight sampans stole back to Hong Kong's Cheung Chau Island under cover of darkness and fog.

The 99 vowed that no matter how many times police towed them away they would return.

Skydiver Jumps With Broken Leg

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Gilbert Wieland, an amateur sky diver, broke his leg in a jump five weeks ago. Several weeks later, with leg still in cast, the 39-year-old restaurant manager bailed out at 7,200 feet and landed safely in a cornfield.

He jumped from 3,600 feet Saturday, landed with his cast intact and broken leg unhurt but suffered a broken back. He was reported in satisfactory condition Wednesday at Washington County Hospital where he was in traction.

"At least I proved you can jump with a broken leg," he said.

Q: What causes rust stains in the sink, tub, and on the white things like linens?

A: Plain old iron in the water is the cause. Lindsay has made some real breakthroughs in the treatment of iron. Our Lindsay Soft Water analysis (free) often shows that iron content in the water varies from house to house in the same neighborhood. So if your water is "rustier" than that next door, you might like to know that our Lindsay Lab has many different ways of treating and removing that problem. If we can't solve the iron in water problem, nobody can! We can help you live nicer, too, with Lindsay Soft Water. Analysis is free.

er political debts to collect. McCarthy lost because he remained far out of the Democratic club in a year when the convention was deeply entrenched within it. There was a yawning generation gap between the McCarthyites and the party regulars.

Neither spoke the other's language or ever really tried to.

The regulars never could understand why McCarthy would not concede defeat when he lost to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in most of the primaries.

McCarthy went it alone, almost boasting, in his quiet way, that he never asked for the support of major political figures, big business, big labor.

He talked to these forces, of course—but rarely was his appeal much stronger than, "I hope you will give us some consideration in your general examination of the candidates."

That wasn't playing the game, and was another reason McCarthy lost.

Family Planning Aid
NEW DELHI (AP) — India might get 15 million aid from the United States for family planning, Minister of State for Health and Family Planning Sripati Chandrasekhar told Parliament.

The minister visited the United States in January this year and met with President Johnson and others on his ministry's needs.

Family planning holds the key to India's progress. The population increase of about 15 million persons every year is thwarting all developmental programs. It makes India chronically dependent on other countries, and more especially the United States, for its essential food.

The minister said the United States had earmarked $35 million aid for the whole world for family planning and India's share would be $15 million.

This would include a fleet of mobile vans to take the message and the means to the 560,000 villages where 85 per cent of India's 510 million people live.

Hubert Humphrey Climbs Long Trail to Top in Political World

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been called a "voice of the past" and a "man of his times."

He has been called a super-guru to middle-aged liberals—and a betrayer of the liberal cause.

He has been called a cheerleader for the Vietnam war and a private doubter—a "happy warrior" and a "weeping hawk."

The usual Humphrey image is that of a fast-talking salesman with a sample case crammed with exclamation marks... a political evangelist who spouts slogans like "politics of joy."

But there is more substance than style to Hubert Horatio Humphrey, 57, a man of burning ambition kindled in the populism, depression and dust storms of his South Dakota youth—when the depression sale of his boyhood home meant the end of childhood.

Thirty-three years ago Humphrey took his Huron, S.D., boy scout troop to see Washington. From the capital the young scoutmaster wrote his wife-to-be, Muriel Buck:

"I need to do more reading and writing, more thinking if ever I want to fulfill my dream of being someone in this world."

"I can see how someday, if you and I just apply ourselves to make up our minds to work for bigger things, we can live here in Washington and probably be in government politics or service."

"I intend to set my aim at congress. Don't laugh at me, Muriel. Maybe it does sound rather egotistical and beyond reason, but Muriel, I do know others have succeeded."

Humphrey was born May 27, 1911, in a room over his father's drugstore in Wallace, S.D., a town of 100 or so in the prairie country. He was the second of four children, with an older brother Ralph and two sisters, Frances and Fern.

The Humphrey family moved to nearby Doland a town of almost 500, when Hubert was 5. The major influence in Humphrey's life was his father: "Dad was a wonderful man. He was my hero. He loved people, and he loved politics. He was virtually the only Democrat in a Republican town. But they elected him mayor, sent him to the state legislature and almost ran him for governor."

But Humphrey, in his bitter-sweet memories, also remembers the closing of the banks in the late 1920s caused economic havoc and "one day I came home from school and there were mom and dad in the orchard with tears. My dad said 'Son, I had to sell our house.' Childhood ended when we sold our house."

The dark days of depression had struck when Humphrey entered the University of Minnesota. People were trading chickens, eggs and meat for drugs at the Humphrey corner drug store. He had to drop out of college and his father started anew in nearby Huron, a bigger town of 6,000.

When his father was elected to the state legislature, Hubert took a speeded-up pharmacy course at the University of Denver so he could run the drugstore.

In 1936 he married Muriel and returned to the University of Minnesota. In two years he was graduated magna cum laude. Just before graduation, the first Humphrey child, Nancy, was born. But school still wasn't finished. He got a master of arts in political science on a teaching fellowship at Louisiana State University.

Then the first step to being "somebody" in the world. Two labor leaders asked Humphrey to run for mayor of Minneapolis: He lost the first time, ran again two years later and won. At 34, he was the youngest mayor of any major American city. But it was a city, as Humphrey recalls it, beset with problems of crime and bigotry.

"The first thing I did was hire a new and tough police chief, increase the policemen's salaries and told them I wasn't on the take and that they weren't going to be on the take either and then I said, 'We are going to have a clean town. Let's clean out the rackets', and so we did."

Destiny gave him a shove toward the center of the national stage in 1948. He not only was running for the U.S. Senate but he was selected to head the state delegation to the Democratic convention in Philadelphia where Harry S. Truman's nomination was automatic but where a battle crackled over civil rights.

Humphrey, named to the platform committee, recalls: "They had a civil rights plank but it skirted the tough issues. We wanted a simple strong plank that supported President Truman's full civil rights program, with the stress on equal employment and equal treatment in the armed forces."

Rising before the convention, Humphrey urged a tougher plank and declared: "We place our faith in the brotherhood of men under the fatherhood of God... I do not believe there can be any compromise on the guarantee of civil rights..."

The convention passed the stronger plank. Southerners bolted and formed the Dixiecrats. Overnight Humphrey was a national figure.

And also that year of 1948 he became the first Democratic senator in Minnesota history.

But a few weeks ago, when Humphrey was introduced at the Minnesota Democratic Convention as a "man of his times," a heckler retorted derisively: "1948."

This Bronx cheer summed up critics' argument that Humphrey's vintage year was 20 years ago and the Humphrey wine has soured in the bottle with the LBJ label.

On the other hand, Humphrey probably wouldn't be where he is today without Johnson.

They were elected to the Senate the same year. Johnson moved quickly toward the inner circle and leadership. But Humphrey blew in like a prairie wind, assailing the doors of traditional power.

Johnson had watched Humphrey, and when he was named Senate Democratic leader in 1953, he brought Humphrey into "the Club," telling the Senate elders Humphrey was "my link with the bomb throwers."

The Humphrey ambitions were still growing.

In 1956, Humphrey had expected that Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, would name him as his running mate. Instead, Stevenson threw the decision to the convention—which chose Sen. Estes Kefauver—and Humphrey was said to have been found by a friend crying in a corner of the convention hall.

And 1960 found Humphrey, undermanned and underfinanced, taking on John F. Kennedy in the Presidential primaries.

He rode to defeat in a battered bus. Eight years later, Humphrey rides in a sleek jet.

In 1960, says Humphrey, "I knew the odds were stacked against me... I remember that a few of my so-called friends suddenly disappeared. You could become cynical and angry but it isn't worth it... But I learned you can't win without money."

In 1964, Johnson picked Humphrey as his running mate. It hadn't been an easy job playing second fiddle to a demanding, sensitive conductor such as Lyndon B. Johnson.

To complaints that he has been the administration cheerleader on Vietnam, Humphrey replies: "There is no such thing as a vice president being too loyal... I didn't become vice president to doublecross the president."

But Humphrey acknowledges he's not the same Humphrey of 20 years ago.

"I have changed," Humphrey tells audiences of businessmen who may still think of him as a bomb thrower and burning liberal.

"When people come to me and ask me whatever happened to that liberal program you used to talk so much about, I look them straight in the eye and tell them, it's passed. That is what happened to it. It's the law of the land."

Senators Trip Orioles, 3-2

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington worm, creeping quietly along the bottom of the American League, has quite suddenly turned on Baltimore's ambitious Orioles.

All season long the Senators had been marvelously cooperative with the Orioles, playing Baltimore 12 times and losing 12 times. That's a perfect record in reverse.

Now, with the Birds making a run at Detroit's front-running Tigers, the Senators have cast their negative vote.

While Detroit's Denny McLain was winning his 26th game Wednesday night, beating California 6-1, Washington beat Baltimore for the first time all year. Frank Howard's 37th homer gave the Senators a 3-2 victory and dropped the Orioles five games off the Tigers' pace.

In other American League games, Chicago shut out New York 3-0, Oakland dropped Boston 5-3 and Cleveland nipped Minnesota 3-2.

Howard connected against Jim Hardin, 17-9, in the fourth inning after Bernie Allen's single had tied the score for Washington.

All night long, it looked like the Orioles would bust loose against Jim Hannan, 8-3, but they never did.

Baltimore managed only one run in the second on Larry Haney's triple after Brooks Robinson and Dave Johnson had opened with singles. Robinson was thrown out trying to advance on a fly ball.

The Orioles loaded the bases in the fourth with one out but failed to score and a double play rescued Hannan in the eighth after a double by Frank Robinson and Boog Powell's single produced another run.

McLain became the first AL pitcher to win 26 since Bob Feller and Hal Newhouse did it in 1946 and ended a two-game personal losing streak by beating the Angels.

Two Race Nights Slated at Atomic
CHILLICOTHE — Two nights of racing are scheduled for the upcoming long weekend, making four in an 11-day span at Atomic Speedway.

Regular races will be held Saturday night and the Labor Day championship races will be on Monday night, with super-modified and hobby stocks competing both nights.

The Labor Day program will be climaxed by the 50-lap modified and 30-lap hobby stocks features.

Cincy Bearcats Set for Practice
CINCINNATI (AP) — Sixty-four University of Cincinnati Bearcats undergo scrutiny of the physicians today and then take to the football practice field a day later in preparation for a tough 1968 gridiron schedule.

"We're stronger, quicker and faster than a year ago," said Coach Homer Rice who begins his second season at UC. The team is scheduled to perform light drills from Friday until Sept. 3 when pads are donned.

Jets Considered AFL Favorite

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Jets fast are becoming the San Francisco Giants of football.

Until the power-laden St. Louis Cardinals came along, the Giants seemed to be given the best chance to win the National League pennant each year. They frequently came close but always managed to find a way to miss out.

For the past couple of seasons, the Jets have been considered the team most likely in the American Football League's Eastern Division, primarily because of Joe Namath. But each time they have failed to wind up on top.

Take 1966, for example. The Jets started out well, winning four and tying one of their first five games. They finished the season 6-6-2.

Last year Weeb Ewbank's forces were 5-1-1, then 7-2-1. Then they lost their next three games, and Houston wound up on top.

The Jets again are considered a leading contender, and they firmly believe the outcome will be different this time.

"A year ago we coaches thought we could do it," Ewbank said, "but convincing young men—that's something else. But when we came so close everyone was kicking themselves. They realized they should've believed it in training camp. I think they're confident now."

They would be more confident, though, if they knew how Emerson Boozer's knee will stand up during the season. Boozer was one of the most brilliant backs in the league for the first eight games in 1967, scoring 13 touchdowns.

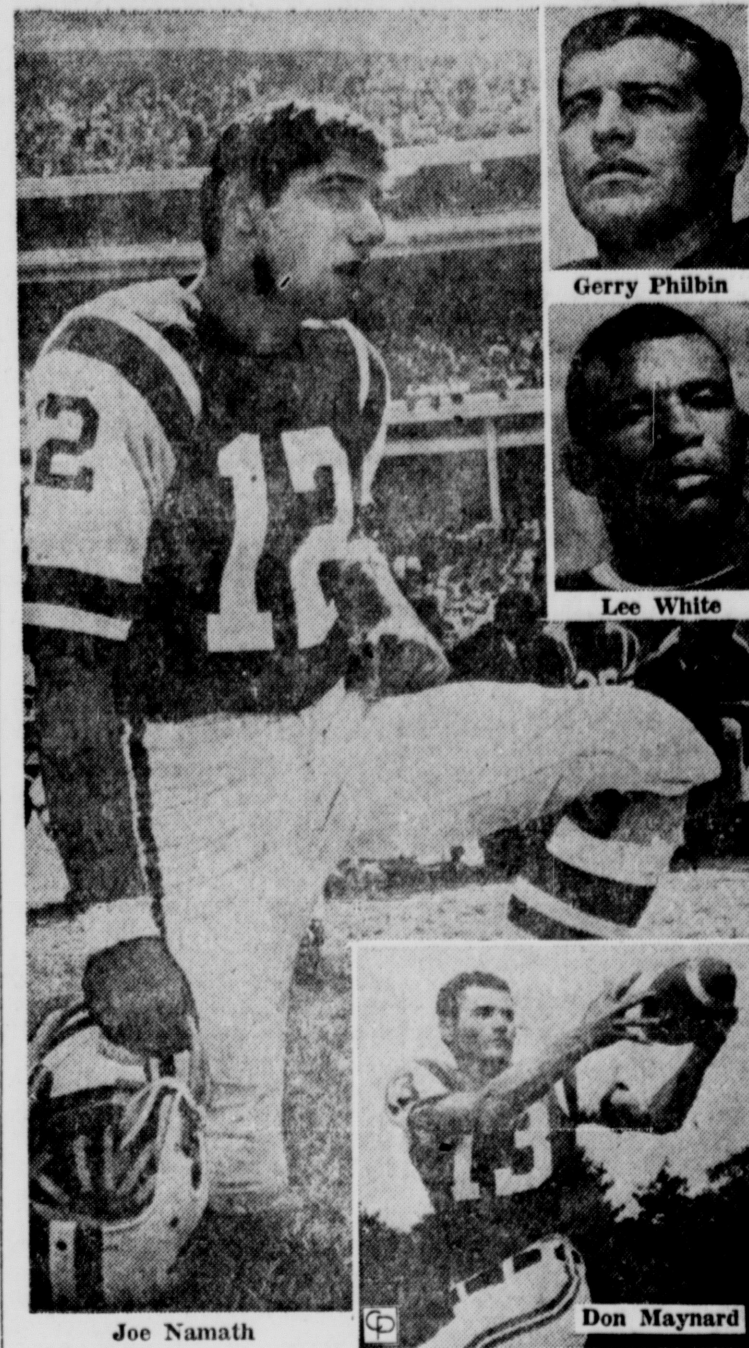

Then he tore knee ligaments and still is recovering from an off-season operation. The Jets hoped the halfback would be ready by the start of the season, but a month in the National Guard cost him the first few weeks of training camp.

Now he's working out on the sidelines, and the Jets can only hope he'll be able to play by Sept. 15.

Billy Mathis has been playing in his spot, but Mathis is no Boozer. The Jets are better off at fullback where Matt Snell is attempting a comeback from torn knee cartilage. If Snell doesn't make it, though, the Jets have rookie Lee White of Weber State who has looked good.

The running attack, of course, is what the Jets must count on with if they are to reach the top. In Namath, they have all the passing punch they need.

The long-haired quarterback passed for a pro record 4,007 yards last season, most of them to George Sauer, Don Maynard and Pete Lammons.

Local Gridders Are Candidates At Otterbein

A squad of approximately 63 upperclassmen and freshmen will report when Coach Larry Lintner greets his Otterbein College gridders for the first time Saturday.

Included in the candidates for the Cardinal grid squad are Rick Rawlins, who lettered last year as a defensive tackle; Don Benner, both Logan Elm graduates; Rod Sines, who lettered three years on the Circleville High School football team.

After receiving physical examinations and participating in a picture-taking session over the weekend the prospective members of the Cardinal football team will begin two-day drills on Monday, Sept. 2.

Lintner indicated this week that he plans to hold his pre-season practice sessions from 8-10 a.m. and from 3:30-5:30 p.m. The twice-daily schedule will continue for two weeks.

The Cardinals once again will play a nine-game football schedule opening at home with a non-conference foe, Susquehanna of Pennsylvania, on Sept. 21. The first five games, home and away, will be played at night while the last four will all be afternoon tilts.

The schedule:
Sept. 21 — Susquehanna, Sept. 28 — at Ashland, Oct. 5 — at Muskingum, Oct. 12 — Ohio Northern, Oct. 19 — Baldwin-Wallace, Oct. 26 — at Marietta, Nov. 2 — Heidelberg, Nov. 9 — at Hiram, Nov. 16 — at Capital.

Jets Take Lead in IL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
After 45 days in first place in the International League race the Toledo Mud Hens find themselves in the role of pursuer instead of pursued.

The Mud Hens were bounced out of the lead Wednesday night for the first time since July 13 when they dropped a doubleheader to the Syracuse Chiefs, 4-0 and 4-1, while the Columbus Jets were beating the last-place Richmond Braves 5-1 in 13 innings.

The Jets' fourth triumph in the five-game series at Richmond pushed them half a game ahead of the Mud Hens, with the Rochester Red Wings—5-3 losers to Buffalo—still in contention just two games back. The Louisville-Jacksonville encounter was rained out.

Three Syracuse pitchers limited Toledo to seven hits. Al Closter pitched a two-hitter in the first game, and Rich Beck and Bob Lasko combined for a five-hitter in the second game.

Columbus assaulted Richmond relief pitcher Ted Davidson for six singles—five in a row with one out—for four runs in the top of the 13th inning after the Mud Hens had traded home runs earlier — George Spriggs' sixth for the Jets in the eighth, David Nicholson's 30th for Richmond in the ninth.

Redskins, Lions to Clash In NFL Exhibition Tonight

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Coach Otto Graham hopes quarterback Sonny Jurgensen can play at least a quarter tonight, and the Redskins might need him against a Detroit Lions' defense that seems bent on wiping out the running game.

The National Football League contest at Washington launches a 12-game preseason schedule, which will be highlighted by a nationally televised NFL game between Minnesota and St. Louis Sunday night and climaxed Monday when NFL Philadelphia plays Boston of the American Football League.

Jurgensen, recuperating from surgery on the elbow of his throwing arm last May, has not played any this summer.

"I am not saying he definitely will play," Graham said Wednesday, "but I would like to use him if he is up to it. Maybe for a quarter or so."

Even though he is not in top form, the appearance of a passer of Jurgensen's ability could spark a punchless Washington attack which has seen kicker Charlie Gogolak account for 27 of 45 points in four games, three of which the Redskins lost.

The Detroit defensive line has yielded just six first downs and an average of 58 yards rushing in three games, two of them Lion victories.

The Lions held NFL Baltimore to 28 yards on 21 carries and no first downs by rushing in a 14-7 victory last week.

But the Detroit defensive wasn't the only thing impressive in the victory over Baltimore. Quarterback Bill Munson put on quite a show also.

Munson, the ex-Los Angeles Ram who will start tonight, completed 19 of 22 passes, the last 12 in a row, for 178 yards against Baltimore in making his first start since recovering from leg surgery.

Jim Nmwski will start at quarterback for Washington and will be backed up by Harry Theofiles and hopefully, for the Redskins, Jurgensen.

Four trades were made in pro football Wednesday.

Detroit traded veteran receiver John Henderson to Minnesota for an undisclosed future draft choice.

The AFL San Diego Chargers sent quarterback Kay Stephenson to Buffalo of the AFL for an undisclosed draft choice.

Backs Billy Johnson and Bob Cappadonna were recalled by Boston which then sent Cappadonna to Buffalo for an undisclosed draft choice.

And St. Louis got a future draft pick from Philadelphia for rookie running back Don Fitzgerald of Kent State.

Senators Trip Orioles, 3-2

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington worm, creeping quietly along the bottom of the American League, has quite suddenly turned on Baltimore's ambitious Orioles.

All season long the Senators had been marvelously cooperative with the Orioles, playing Baltimore 12 times and losing 12 times. That's a perfect record in reverse.

Now, with the Birds making a run at Detroit's front-running Tigers, the Senators have cast their negative vote.

While Detroit's Denny McLain was winning his 26th game Wednesday night, beating California 6-1, Washington beat Baltimore for the first time all year. Frank Howard's 37th homer gave the Senators a 3-2 victory and dropped the Orioles five games off the Tigers' pace.

In other American League games, Chicago shut out New York 3-0, Oakland dropped Boston 5-3 and Cleveland nipped Minnesota 3-2.

Howard connected against Jim Hardin, 17-9, in the fourth inning after Bernie Allen's single had tied the score for Washington.

All night long, it looked like the Orioles would bust loose against Jim Hanman, 8-3, but they never did.

Baltimore managed only one run in the second on Larry Haney's triple after Brooks Robinson and Dave Johnson had opened with singles. Robinson was thrown out trying to advance on a fly ball.

The Orioles loaded the bases in the fourth with one out but failed to score and a double play rescued Hanman in the eighth after a double by Frank Robinson and Boog Powell's single produced another run.

McLain became the first AL pitcher to win 26 since Bob Feller and Hal Newhouse did it in 1946 and ended a two-game personal losing streak by beating the Angels.

Two Race Nights Slated at Atomic

CHILLICOTHE — Two nights of racing are scheduled for the upcoming long weekend, making four in an 11-day span at Atomic Speedway.

Regular races will be held Saturday night and the Labor Day championship races will be on Monday night, with super-modifieds and hobby stocks competing both nights.

The Labor Day program will be climaxed by the 50-lap modified and 30-lap hobby stocks features.

Cincy Bearcats Set for Practice

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sixty-four University of Cincinnati Bearcats undergo scrutiny of the physicians today and then take to the football practice field a day later in preparation for a tough 1968 gridiron schedule.

"We're stronger, quicker and faster than a year ago," said Coach Homer Rice who begins his second season at UC. The team is scheduled to perform light drills from Friday until Sept. 3 when pads are donned.

Jets Considered AFL Favorite

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Jets fast are becoming the San Francisco Giants of football.

Until the power-laden St. Louis Cardinals came along, the Giants seemed to be given the best chance to win the National League pennant each year. They frequently came close but always managed to find a way to miss out.

For the past couple of seasons, the Jets have been considered the team most likely in the American Football League's Eastern Division, primarily because of Joe Namath. But each time they have failed to wind up on top.

Take 1966, for example. The Jets started out well, winning four and tying one of their first five games. They finished the season 6-6-2.

Last year Weeb Ewbank's forces were 5-1-1, then 7-2-1. Then they lost their next three games, and Houston wound up on top.

The Jets again are considered a leading contender, and they firmly believe the outcome will be different this time.

"A year ago we coaches thought we could do it," Ewbank said, "but convincing young men—that's something else. But when we came so close everyone was kicking themselves. They realized they should've believed it in training camp. I think they're confident now."

3 Men Tie in Amateur

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Michael Bonallack likes the greens because they remind him of home, Jack Veghte plans to attack the course and Allen Miller III is just having fun.

These three emerged as the first-round leaders in the 68th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship Wednesday after posting one-over par 71s on the tough Scioto Country Club layout.

They carried a shaky one-stroke advantage into today's second round of action over five other hopefuls and a two-shot margin over a dozen others in a closely bunched field.

The bulky list of 150 competitors was to be trimmed after today's round to the low 60 scores and ties for Friday and Saturday final 18-hole tests.

As expected, the rugged, 6,762-yard Scioto course was the real master Wednesday, refusing to yield a single par round. At least a dozen players had shots at breaking par but faltered in the late going.

Reds Sweep Doubleheader From Stunned N.Y. Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—It's been the year of the pitcher, especially for the New York Mets. But if you're a Mets fan, please disregard Wednesday night's venture with the Cincinnati Reds.

The Mets, who have a fine young pitching staff, went into Wednesday's two-night doubleheader with Cincinnati fresh from 1-0 and 4-0 victories over the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals.

They came out of it with 8-3 and 5-2 defeats at the hands of the Reds.

Cincinnati jumped on starter Jerry Koosman, now 16-9, and Bill Connors for 15 hits and all of its runs in the opener. Koosman was touched for nine hits and four runs, just one of them earned, in 3 2-3 innings.

Gerry Arrigo went the distance for Cincinnati and gained his 11th victory in 18 decisions. Bill Short blanked Cincinnati over the final two innings, and it looked like the good pitching was going to continue in the nightcap.

Don Cardwell, 7-12, retired the first 13 Cincinnati batters before the Reds broke through with a three-run rally in the fifth.

Gary Nolan, with 1 1-3 innings relief from Clay Carroll, allowed the Mets their total of five hits and earned his seventh victory.

Johnny Bench started the rally with a single and, with two out, Lee May was walked intentionally. Woody Woodward singled in the first run and pitcher Nolan then doubled home two more. The Mets, losing to Nolan for the seventh straight time, got a run in the first on Bud Harrelson's single and Ken Boswell's double. They added another in the sixth.

Ed Charles and Cleon Jones homered for the Mets in the opener and Tommy Agee singled home the other run.

Palmer, Nicklaus Lead Top Field For Thunderbird

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Arnold Palmer is the defending champion, but Jack Nicklaus has his accustomed favorite's role in the $130,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic, which opens Friday on the 7,035-yard par 72 course of the upper Montclair Country Club.

But Nicklaus and Palmer will have their hands full with a 150-man field that includes almost all of golf's top names.

Palmer, who also won in 1963, is the only two-time winner in the seven-year history of the Thunderbird, whose winner has usually been one of golf's biggest names.

Nicklaus took the title in 1965 and the other winners have been Gene Littler (1962), the late Tony Lema (1964) and Mason Rudolph (1966).

Tiant Pulled, But Tribe Wins Over Twins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luis Tiant has tried four times for his 19th victory and wound up Wednesday night with an ice pack on his elbow.

"It feels like I'm being cut by a knife right here," the Cleveland right-hander said. "That pitch to the last guy (Rick Reichert) in the fifth was too much, I think."

Tiant (18-9) was pulled in the fifth inning with a strained right elbow but Vicente Romo came in to complete a 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Tiant, the Indians' top hurler, hasn't had a victory since Aug. 10 and may miss his start Sunday against the New York Yankees. After Reichert bounced out, Tiant went to the dugout but didn't say anything to Manager Alvin Dark.

"I was hoping it will be okay when I go out again," he said. It wasn't. "I flexed my arm and I can feel it hurting," he explained. "But I want to try."

Third baseman Max Alvis noticed something wrong the next inning and came over. "Looie was walking around the mound shaking his head," Alvis said. "It looked like he didn't want to throw, so I called for Alvin Dark."

Dark took him out. Tiant had a 2-1 lead but Minnesota tied it in the sixth when Cesar Tovar singled, went to third on a single by Rich Reese and scored on Rod Carew's grounder to first.

Jose Cardenal drove in two runs for Cleveland, including the tie-breaker in the sixth with a single to score Larry Brown. Cardenal's fourth-inning single tallied Max Alvis for a 2-0 lead.

The Indians scored one in the third, on Tony Horton's double. Bob Allison rapped a lead off homer in the fifth, his 17th of the season, for the Twins's first run.

Logan Elm Braves Improve in 2nd Scrimmage Tilt

Logan Elm football squad scrimmaged Berne Union Wednesday under the lights at the LEHS gridiron, allowing one touchdown by the visitors.

Although Logan Elm moved the ball well in the latter stages of the scrimmage, they fumbled near the goal line on their only scoring threat.

Injured in the game was Dave Reichelderfer, senior guard, who dislocated his shoulder. Coach Mark Albright noted he did not yet know how bad the injury is.

Albright, who has around 30 candidates for the football squad, is looking for team managers. He requested that any Logan Elm High School student interested in being a manager contact him.

Gibson Blanks Pirates; Cards Win, 8-0

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Gibson is not the type of guy to hold a grudge, but you'd never know it the way he treated the Pittsburgh Pirates only four days after they turned on him.

Pittsburgh, after scoring only one run in two losses to Gibson, rumored his 15-game winning streak last Saturday by scoring two unearned runs in the ninth inning.

The fireballing St. Louis Cardinals right-hander didn't forget that disappointment, about the only one he has had in a sensational season. Wednesday night, he got his revenge.

Gibson made the Pirates his 11th shutout victim this season by cutting them down four hits and striking out 14 as the Cardinals romped to an 8-0 victory.

His latest sparkler, raising his record to 19-6, also put Gibson back on the road toward the Cy Young Award and ended the Cardinals' brief spin en route to their second consecutive pennant.

The Cardinals' distance from the rest of the league stood at 11 games over Cincinnati and San Francisco after the Reds swept the New York Mets 8-3 and 5-2 in a two-night doubleheader and the Giants nudged Houston 4-3 in the afternoon.

Atlanta won a two-nighter from Philadelphia 9-2 and 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 7-4 before losing 8-4 in another two-night twinbill.

Gibson, so outstanding that he is making his 20- and 21-victory years of 1965 and 1966 look like bad seasons, was the master again as the Pirates bowed to him. They never got a runner past second base. He issued two of his three walks to open the fifth, but then struck out the side.

The shutout gave him the St. Louis club record for shutouts breaking Mort Cooper's mark of 10 in one season. Gibson also capped a five-run fourth inning with a two-run single. Orlando Cepeda hammered his 14th homer for the first three runs off Bob Vealer, 10-13.

Cepeda singled in another run in the sixth and Julian Javier stroked his second homer in the eighth as the Cardinals came to life after two straight shut out losses.

After Ray Sadecki had given Houston three runs by walking in one run and wild pitching two others home in the fourth, the Astros gave the Giants the winner in the ninth when Jim Hart's infield hit and three walks forced in the run.

Atlanta unloaded 19 hits against the Phillies in their opener, including three each by Felipe Alou and Hank Aaron, a homer and a single by Deron Johnson and winner George Stone's two run-scoring singles.

Aaron, playing first base in the nightcap for the first time in his major league career, hit his 25th homer for a 1-1 tie and then Johnson singled in Alou with the winning run in the eighth inning. Pat Jarvis, 14-9, got the victory with a three-hitter.

Ernie Banks keyed a six-run Cubs' uprising in the first inning of the first game with a two-run single, but the Dodgers scored six runs of their own in the eighth inning of the nightcap to overcome a 4-2 deficit. Ken Boyer struck the big blow, a pinch three-run double for a 6-4 lead.

Wharton Breezes To Golf Victory

FAIRBORN, Ohio (AP) — Akron pro Frank Wharton breezed to his first Ohio Open golf championship Wednesday despite erratic putting that pushed his third round score up to a four-over-par 76.

Wharton, who shot sizzling scores of 69 and 68 on Monday and Tuesday, toured the final round in even par 72 for a 72-hole score of 285 to win the $1,200 top prize by eight strokes.

Reds Sweep Doubleheader From Stunned N.Y. Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—It's been the year of the pitcher, especially for the New York Mets. But if you're a Mets fan, please disregard Wednesday night's venture with the Cincinnati Reds.

The Mets, who have a fine young pitching staff, went into Wednesday's two-night doubleheader with Cincinnati fresh from 1-0 and 4-0 victories over the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals.

They came out of it with 8-3 and 5-2 defeats at the hands of the Reds.

Cincinnati jumped on starter Jerry Koosman, now 16-9, and Bill Connors for 15 hits and all of its runs in the opener. Koosman was touched for nine hits and four runs, just one of them earned, in 3 2/3 innings.

Gerry Arrigo went the distance for Cincinnati and gained his 11th victory in 18 decisions. Bill Short blanked Cincinnati over the final two innings, and it looked like the good pitching was going to continue in the nightcap.

Don Cardwell, 7-12, retired the first 13 Cincinnati batters before the Reds broke through with a three-run rally in the fifth.

Gary Nolan, with 1 1/3 innings relief from Clay Carroll, allowed the Mets their total of five hits and earned his seventh victory.

Joimny Bench started the rally with a single and, with two out, Lee May was walked intentionally. Woody Woodward singled in the first run and pitcher Nolan then doubled home two more.

The Mets, losing to Nolan for the seventh straight time, got a run in the first on Bud Harrelson's single and Ken Boswell's double. They added another in the sixth.

Ed Charles and Cleon Jones homered for the Mets in the opener and Tommy Agee singled home the other run.

Palmer, Nicklaus Lead Top Field For Thunderbird

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—Arnold Palmer is the defending champion, but Jack Nicklaus has his accustomed favorite's role in the $130,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic, which opens Friday on the 7,035-yard par 72 course of the upper Montclair Country Club.

But Nicklaus and Palmer will have their hands full with a 150-man field that includes almost all of golf's top names.

Palmer, who also won in 1963, is the only two-time winner in the seven-year history of the Thunderbird, whose winner has usually been one of golf's biggest names.

Nicklaus took the title in 1965 and the other winners have been Gene Littler (1962), the late Tony Lema (1964) and Mason Rudolph (1966).

Tiant Pulled, But Tribe Wins Over Twins

CLEVELAND (AP)—Luis Tiant has tried four times for his 19th victory and wound up Wednesday night with an ice pack on his elbow.

"It feels like I'm being cut by a knife right here," the Cleveland right-hander said. "That pitch to the last guy (Rick Renick) in the fifth was too much, I think."

Tiant (18-9) was pulled in the fifth inning with a strained right elbow but Vicente Romo came in to complete a 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Tiant, the Indians' top hurler, hasn't had a victory since Aug. 10 and may miss his start Sunday against the New York Yankees. After Renick bounced out, Tiant went to the dugout but didn't say anything to Manager Alvin Dark.

"I was hoping it will be okay when I go out again," he said. "It wasn't. I flexed my arm and I can feel it hurting," he explained. "But I want to try."

Third baseman Max Alvis noticed something wrong the next inning and came over. "Looie was walking around the mound shaking his head," Alvis said. "It looked like he didn't want to throw, so I called for Alvin Dark."

Dark took him out. Tiant had a 2-1 lead but Minnesota tied it in the sixth when Cesar Tiedie by Rich Reese and scored on Rod Carew's grounder to first.

Jose Cardenal drove in two runs for Cleveland, including the tie-breaker in the sixth with a single to score Larry Brown. Cardenal's fourth-inning single tallied Max Alvis for a 2-0 lead.

The Indians scored one in the third, on Tony Horton's double. Bob Allison rapped a lead off homer in the fifth, his 17th of the season, for the Twins's first run.

Logan Elm Braves Improve in 2nd Scrimmage Tilt

Logan Elm football squad scrimmaged Berne Union Wednesday under the lights at the LEHS gridiron, allowing one touchdown by the visitors.

Although Logan Elm moved the ball well in the latter stages of the scrimmage, they fumbled near the goal line on their only scoring threat.

Injured in the game was Dave Reichelderfer, senior guard, who dislocated his shoulder. Coach Mark Albright noted he did not yet know how bad the injury is.

Albright, who has around 30 candidates for the football squad, is looking for team managers. He requested that any Logan Elm High School student interested in being a manager contact him.

Gibson Blanks Pirates; Cards Win, 8-0

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Gibson is not the type of guy to hold a grudge, but you'd never know it the way he treated the Pittsburgh Pirates only four days after they turned on him.

Pittsburgh, after scoring only one run in two losses to Gibson, ruined his 15-game winning streak last Saturday by scoring two unearned runs in the ninth inning.

The fireballing St. Louis Cardinals right-hander didn't forget that disappointment, about the only one he has had in a sensational season. Wednesday night, he got his revenge.

Gibson made the Pirates his 11th shutout victim this season by cutting them down four hits and striking out 14 as the Cardinals romped to an 8-0 victory.

His latest sparkler, raising his record to 19-6, also put Gibson back on the road toward the Cy Young Award and ended the Cardinals' brief spin en route to their second consecutive pennant.

The Cardinals' distance from the rest of the league stood at 11 games over Cincinnati and San Francisco after the Reds swept the New York Mets 8-3 and 5-2 in a two-night doubleheader and the Giants nudged Houston 4-3 in the afternoon.

Atlanta won a two-nighter from Philadelphia 9-2 and 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs beat Los Angeles 7-4 before losing 8-4 in another two-night twinbill.

Gibson, so outstanding that he is making his 20- and 21-victory years of 1965 and 1966 look like bad seasons, was the master again as the Pirates bowed to him. They never got a runner past second base. He issued two of his three walks to open the fifth, but then struck out the side.

The shutout gave him the St. Louis club record for shutouts breaking Mort Cooper's mark of 10 in one season.

Gibson also capped a five-run fourth inning with a two-run single. Orlando Cepeda hammered his 14th homer for the first three runs off Bob Veale, 10-13. Cepeda singled in another run in the sixth and Julian Javier stroked his second homer in the eighth as the Cardinals came to life after two straight shut out losses.

After Ray Sadecki had given Houston three runs by walking in one run and wild pitching two others home in the fourth, the Astros gave the Giants the winner in the ninth when Jim Hart's infield hit and three walks forced in the run.

Atlanta unloaded 19 hits against the Phillies in their opener, including three each by Felipe Alou and Hank Aaron, a homer and a single by Deron Johnson and winner George Stone's two run-scoring singles. Aaron, playing first base in the nightcap for the first time in his major league career, hit his 25th homer for a 1-1 tie and then Johnson singled in Alou with the winning run in the eighth inning. Pat Jarvis, 14-9, got the victory with a three-hitter.

Ernie Banks keyed a six-run Cubs' uprising in the first inning of the first game with a two-run single, but the Dodgers scored six runs of their own in the eighth inning of the nightcap to overcome a 4-2 deficit. Ken Boyer struck the big blow, a pinch three-run double for a 6-4 lead.
